By the Associated Press.
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 21.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, in his first speech in behalf of the Republican national ticket, indorsed the attitude of Senator Warren G. Harding, nominee for the presidency, on the League of Nations here today.

"Mr. Harding, happily for himself and for America, has scrapped the League," Senator Johnson said. "Senator Johnson had been one of the most bitter and unbending foes of the league in the Senate."

The speech, first of several Senator Johnson is scheduled to make in California in the national campaign, was made to the Republican State convention at its opening session. It began with congratulations "upon the outlook for Republican success, and an attack upon the present Democratic administration."

"So wide is the dissatisfaction with the present administration," he said, "to great the hostility to many acts of the President, and so acute the suffering of the metamorphosis of our foreign policy, that apparently nothing can prevent overwhelming Republican success in the November election."

Says Indictment Is Warranted.
The indictment brought against Mr. Wilson's Government is severe, but warranted by the facts. For the first time in our lives the Democratic administration taught us what repression and suppression were. This administration not only curtailed the constitutional privileges of citizens at home, but endeavored to drive us into perilous paths abroad. Free speech has been threatened, not by the interest of patriotism, but for existing power. A free press has been endangered. A rigid censorship diluted the news, and facts to which all were entitled were forbidden publication, while Government propaganda, colored, and often distorted the information permitted to come to the people. These assaults intensify the hatred of freedom, the ancient foe of freedom. The necessary restrictions of war time have been inexcusably prolonged in peace, and our Government has strayed far from those fundamental principles upon which, for more than a century, and a quarter, the republic has so securely rested."

Senator Johnson then attacked the administration on the League of Nations issue.

"Under the specious guise of the League of Nations to promote peace and prevent war, we were to be inextricably bound hereafter to every future world war," he continued.

League Issue Clean Cut.
"Upon the League of Nations the issue is clean cut. There are some gentlemen who seek by construction of words to obscure it. I do not object to these gentlemen and their newspaper protagonists saving their faces so long as they do not deny the way in which the League of Nations was sold to the people. But the language of the two candidates is plain and unambiguous. The one says he will go into the League, and I am proud to say that our candidate says he will stay out of the League. My private opinion and every individual in official position will do their utmost in the endeavor to promote peace and prevent war. It is possible that this may be done in the way of another construction without inviting entanglements or imperialistic policies or European or Asiatic schemes of aggression or annihilation. That we will strive to find a way to prevent war goes without saying. But the present issue is the League of Nations. This has been the issue since the return of Mr. Wilson from Europe. During all the latter, vindictive months this has been the fight. It is the only issue now in solemn referendum to the people. Mr. Cox says if he is successful, he will go in. Our candidate says he will stay out. Mr. Harding, happily for himself and for America, has scrapped the League."

Quotes Harding's Stand.
Senator Johnson quoted Senator Harding as having said Aug. 28 the League is important as a preventive

This makes the actual increase 138,712, subject to a later increase by this year's supplementary registration.)

125,883 WOMEN
VOTERS REGISTEREDNumber Double the Advance
Estimates of Election Board Members.

Registration of women during four days of last week to vote at the general election Nov. 2, was 125,883, as officially announced today by the Board of Election Commissioners. This is the first time women have registered in St. Louis under the privileges extended to them by ratification of the nineteenth amendment to the United States Constitution, and the number which accepted "the responsibility of citizenship" is more than double the estimate of 60,000, made in advance by the Election Commissioners.

The total registration, officially announced, was 312,472. The number of men who registered was 186,589, an increase of 12,829 over the 173,760 men who registered for the general election in 1916, and which was the largest in the history of St. Louis.

Have Majority in One Ward.
Women exceeded the number of men registered in one of the largest residence wards in the city, the Twenty-eighth, a West End ward in which Government apartments, and in which 9,951 women and 9,905 men registered. This was the only ward in which women predominated, though they were close in the Thirtieth and Twenty-fifth, also large residence wards. Comparison in those wards was as follows: Thirtieth, 12,831 men and 10,573 women; Twenty-fifth, 7,409 men and 6,163 women.

Registration by precincts, 15 of them in the Twenty-eighth Ward, women exceeded the men registrants, as follows:

Thirtieth Ward, Thirtieth Precinct, 1719 South Thirty-ninth street, 299 men and 308 women.

Thirtieth Ward, Thirtieth Precinct, 4066 Shenandoah avenue, 248 men and 260 women.

Thirtieth Ward, Thirtieth Precinct, 4102 Shenandoah, 271 men and 273 women.

Fourth Ward, Nineteenth Precinct, 1801 Michigan avenue, 297 men and 300 women.

Fourth Ward, Twentieth Precinct, 1915 Virginia avenue, 300 men and 344 women.

Fourth Ward, Twenty-fourth Precinct, 3014 South Grand avenue, 335 men and 340 women.

Fifteenth Ward, Fifteenth Precinct, 2755 Lafayette avenue, 256 men and 273 women.

Nineteenth Ward, Seventh Precinct, 2629 Glasgow avenue, 326 men and 351 women.

Twenty-first Ward, Second Precinct, 2501 West Grand avenue, 233 men and 304 women.

Twenty-fourth Ward, seventh Precinct, 2450 Tower Grove avenue, 245 men and 270 women.

Twenty-fifth Ward, twenty-third Precinct, 6000 Page boulevard, 271 men and 313 women.

Twenty-sixth Ward, twentieth Precinct, 1845 Academy avenue, 242 men and 318 women.

Twenty-eighth Ward, first Precinct, King's highway and Waterman avenue, 328 men and 390 women.

Twenty-eighth Ward, fourth Precinct, 5031 Suburban avenue, 334 men and 356 women.

Twenty-eighth Ward, Fifth Precinct, 1144 Union avenue, 332 men and 333 women.

Twenty-eighth Ward, Sixth Precinct, 1144 Union avenue, 332 men and 333 women.

BLIND BROOMMAKERS
STRIKE FOR MORE PAYEight Quit at State Factory Here
and Say They Will Appeal to Governor.

Eight blind men employed in the broom factory at Jefferson avenue and Howard street, operated by the State for the blind, have struck, and one has quit and left St. Louis because they have been refused an increase in wages from the $9 to $10 a week which they now receive. Their strike has been in progress since Thursday, and five of them announced to the Post-Dispatch today that unless they can obtain an adjustment from the factory authorities they intend to take their grievances direct to Gov. B. B. Gardner.

The factory is under the supervision of the Missouri Commission for the Blind, of which James C. Jones is the head. Jones is out of the city on a business trip. The commission, whose office is in the Metropolitan Building, declined to discuss the matter in Jones' absence.

The delegation which came to the Post-Dispatch were Edward Lampe, 2703 Chouteau avenue; Louis Freize, 2602 Howard street; Arthur Abney, 2013 Gravois avenue; W. E. Douglas, 2237 Howard; and J. E. Kemp, 2314 Howard.

These men said that those who had struck were the best qualified broom makers at the State factory, and that each was willing to work on a piecework basis. They said that they can average three dozen brooms a day each, which at the scale paid in union broom plants here of 70 to 85 cents a dozen for the class of brooms made at the State factory would enable them to make $12.50 to $15.30 a week.

They said that the worst brooms, one of the kind they make, cost 54 cents each, or $6.48 a dozen, which would be $19.44 for the three dozen, which is their average daily output.

These brooms sell for $23.50 a dozen, which would be $23.50 for three dozen or a profit of $9.06 each day on the output of each man, they say.

Lampe said that for some reason the authorities in charge of the factory had placed a limit on the number of brooms each man is allowed to make, fixing the number at 32 a day, and that he had been reprimanded once for exceeding the limit.

He and his associates said that when they presented their request for higher wages to the commission they had been told that if they "were not satisfied they could get out."

They said that they have no desire to become objects of charity, that they are good workmen, and that they want to work, but that they want living wages in return for their work.

They said that the $12-a-week men at the State factory are those who get a $3 allowance provided by the State in cases where blind men have blind wives, and that the allowance has nothing to do with their broom-making.

RESOLUTION TO OUST NEW YORK SOCIALISTS REPORTED TO HOUSE

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—The Assembly Judiciary Committee today by a vote of 7 to 6 reported, without recommendations, the resolution of Assemblyman Gillet to exclude the Socialists from the extraordinary session.

Action on the resolution was made a special order of business for 2 p. m. today.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—A hurricane warning for 10 a. m. on the West Louisiana coast and on the Texas coast from Port Arthur to Corpus Christi was issued today by the Weather Bureau.

The warning said the tropical storm in the Yucatan was advancing northward and was attended by "dangerous winds."

"Emergency: warn all interests," said the announcement.

This explanatory statement was issued:

"The tropical storm over the Gulf of Mexico is advancing northward toward the west Gulf coast, attended by dangerous winds. Hurricane warnings were ordered raised at 10 o'clock this morning on the West Louisiana coast, and on the Texas coast, southward to Corpus Christi. All interests have been ordered warned of the dangerous character of this storm."

"Storm warnings are also displayed at Brownsville, Tex., and on the eastern Louisiana coast."

Barometer Falling; Wind Blowing 32 Miles an Hour at Galveston.

By the Associated Press.
GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 21.—The barometer here at 12 o'clock was 29.88 inches, four points below 7 a. m. reading. The wind was blowing at 22 miles an hour from the northwest. The tide was 2.5 feet above the mean low reading, a rise of .9 since the 7 o'clock reading.

Indications are that the tropical disturbance reported last night in latitude 25, longitude 90, was of moderate intensity.

All livestock had been moved in from the island farms by noon today and merchandise had been placed above possible high water.

Indications at this hour were that the center of the disturbance would go inland somewhere to the westward of Galveston.

All shipping in port was made fast. Weather bureau warnings of the possibility of the blow reaching this section of the Texas coast were sent broadcast.

Barometer Drops Seven Points in Hour at Houston.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 21.—The barometer here dropped from 29.92 to 29.85, seven points, between 1 and 2 p. m. today.

Shipping Interests at New Orleans Holding Back Steamers.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 21.—All precautions are being taken in this section for the coming of the gulf storm, which is predicted. Shipping interests are holding back all vessels destined to Mexican or Central American ports and advising extreme caution on the part of masters now at sea.

More than a dozen steamers are being held at Port Eads. One vessel reported having been informed that the fishing fleet which usually dots the Campeche Banks had received warning in time and had gone to port.

A heavy rain here and along the coast was attended only by slight winds early today.

The usual exodus of late summer residents started today for Mississippi Sound resorts. Trains from the fishing and hunting camps of the coast have been crowded since first warning of the storm.

The barometer at Galveston, here, was 29.88, virtually the same as 12 hours before.

Considerable significance is attached at the Weather Bureau to the tidal record from Galveston. At 8 o'clock last night the tide there was .6 above normal and at 8 a. m. today it was 1.6 above.

CRAWFORD OF ALTON
FILES FOR MAYOR
FOR SIXTH TIMETo Be Candidate in Election Next Spring—First Man to Enter Race.

Stephen G. L. Crawford of Alton is again.

For the last 10 years he has divided his time between running a grocery store and running for election as mayor of Alton. When the filing time comes around every two years, he is the first to get in the race, and in every election day comes he is the first to get out of it, his principal handicap being lack of votes.

For the sixth time Crawford yesterday filed as a candidate for the mayoralty, though the election will not be held until next spring. No other candidate has filed.

Crawford says he will continue to run until he is elected mayor. By filing early, he says, he runs longer, if not further and faster, than all other candidates.

CALIFORNIA PROHIBITION CHIEF KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTL. A. Handley Meets Death When on Way to Deliver Democratic Keynote Address.

By the Associated Press.
STOCKTON, Cal., Sept. 21.—Loren A. Handley of Los Angeles, prohibition enforcement officer for California, was killed in an automobile accident near here late last night.

Handley was 30 years old and married. Handley left San Francisco late yesterday afternoon for Sacramento to where he was to preside over the session of the Democratic State convention and deliver the keynote address.

Handley was graduated from Princeton University in 1904. In 1905 he was called to the chair of Mental and moral philosophy at Emporia College Kan. In 1907 he came to California and was a member of the faculty of Occidental College, Los Angeles. Later he interested himself in politics in that city and was elected to various municipal positions.

Handley was in the streets, evidently bent on reprisals for the shooting of the police officials. They immediately proceeded to surround him and set on fire, as well as numerous private homes, whose occupants were given little time to dress before the buildings were burned. Many of the business houses were destroyed.

The town is one of the centers of hosiery manufacture and power loom weaving.

It is reported that the two civilians were killed, a dairyman and a barber, were dragged from their houses, bayoneted and then shot.

A number of houses belonging to prominent Sinn Feiners were set on fire, and all together 23 residences are reported to have been burned to the ground. The sacking of the town was carried out by 50 auxiliary police, known as "Black and Tans," from their uniforms. Today these police were reported to be declaring they would return tonight to complete the destruction of the town.

The Burke brothers, the two police officers, were shot last night as they were leaving a restaurant. They had motored over from Dublin in plain clothes, with other members of the police force. Some dispute arose in the restaurant and as the Burkes emerged five shots were fired at them from the crowd.

The news quickly traveled to the neighboring village of Germanstown, where the "Black-and-Tans" who are English recruits for the Irish police force, are stationed. They immediately started in motor lorries for Balbriggan. The shooting, burning and looting began immediately upon their arrival.

Among the homes destroyed was a whole row of thatched cottages in the workmen's district.

One of the acts of the auxiliaries was to seek out men suspected of shooting the Burkes. A barber, named Larless, a middle-aged man, the father of a large family, was taken from his house and killed, as was a dairy farmer, named Gilmore. The latter, at least, was both bayoneted and shot.

During the night numerous explosions were heard, which were attributed to incendiary bombs. The "Black-and-Tans" departed at 5 o'clock in the morning, declaring that if the wounded police officer, Sgt. Burke, died, they would return and "finish the town."

This threat, added to the terror of the already frenzied inhabitants and an exodus from town began in the early dawn. Many hurriedly collected such belongings as they could and crowded the early train for Dublin. Others less fortunate took to the highways with such portable effects as they had saved from their burning homes. Mill owners and workmen, with weeping women and children and mothers with babies in their arms, all took up the march together along the nearest road which they thought would lead to safety.

Many of the refugees were bleeding from the face or hands, having been wounded by flying glass and debris. Some of them tramped for hours before reaching a place of refuge.

DUBLIN, Sept. 21.—Auxiliary police forces last night wrecked the town of Balbriggan, near here, in retaliation for the shooting of two police officers there earlier in the evening, when District Inspector Burke was killed and his brother, Sgt. Burke, was seriously wounded.

Two civilians were shot dead and several persons wounded. Many houses were set on fire and the largest hosiery factory in Ireland, belonging to an English firm, was destroyed. This morning the town was in terror, and streams of refugees in all sorts of vehicles were abandoning the place for neighboring villages.

Homes Are Set on Fire.

Shortly after midnight uniformed men appeared in the streets, evidently bent on reprisals for the shooting of the police officials. They immediately proceeded to surround him and set on fire, as well as numerous private homes, whose occupants were given little time to dress before the buildings were burned. In his opinion the court said he had found that the art of making spats is very old and that evidence had been introduced by the defense to show that spats originated with the Germans in the time of Frederick the Great and that spats were worn by Washington's soldiers at Valley Forge when we were having our historic spat with George III.

JOHNSON'S ACTION THREATENS UPSET IN CALIFORNIA

Southern Part of State, Which Once Made Hero of Him, Now for League and Resents His Intrusion.

DELICATE BIT OF WORK FOR HAYS

Situation Among Republicans Pointed Out as Such That Party Row Might Give Cox Chance.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Sept. 21.—California furnished a surprise four years ago. It may furnish another this year if Senator Johnson chooses to upset a situation which today looks like a majority of at least 100,000 for Senator Harding.
To understand the mix-up it must first be stated that normally Southern California furnishes the heavy Republican vote to overcome the Democratic strength in San Francisco and Northern California.
But this year Northern California, especially with its Irish vote in San Francisco, has sided to the arguments of William Johnson, and a press friendly to his viewpoint on the League of Nations, while Southern California has been strongly in favor of the League, and the majority of the newspapers of influence have taken that attitude.
Thus Senator Johnson, who has always been popular in Southern California, lost it decisively to Herbert Hoover in the May primaries because Southern California is for the League.

When Senator Harding was nominated Southern California was appointed. It wanted Hoover. When Senator Harding first announced his views on the League and men like Taft and Hoover expressed themselves as satisfied, the friends of the League of Nations in Los Angeles and vicinity also were satisfied.
When Senator Harding began to show signs of accepting Senator Johnson's ideas on the League question, an undercurrent of dissatisfaction developed but the Republican newspapers accepted the situation with evidence of discomfort and restiveness.

Senator Johnson's Attitude.
They are for the time being submerging the issue, but are hopeful that Senator Harding will yet take a more sympathetic attitude toward the League. All would be well if the situation ran on without the raising of new causes for controversy inside the Republican party.
But Senator Johnson is not disposed to let well enough alone. Either he believes that Southern California can be converted to his viewpoint on the League or he sincerely believes he should campaign
throughout California and drive home the interpretation of the Harding's position which he himself holds.

Anyway, they say they do not want Senator Johnson to speak in Southern California. Somebody arranged a meeting for Los Angeles next Saturday night to follow that of Gay Cox. Perhaps it was the intervention of the Republican National Committee or perhaps Senator Johnson was permitted to speak
where he pleased in California.
But the truth is the Republicans in this vicinity have appealed to the Republican National Committee to keep Johnson out of Southern California. Elmer Dover, regional director on the Pacific coast for the Republican National Committee, has been in Los Angeles the last few days checking up on the situation, and it is understood that he has advised Will Hays it might be best not to ask Senator Johnson to speak about the League in Los Angeles, or better, yet, not to come into the section at all.

Dover has been told that as things now stand the situation from a Republican viewpoint is excellent and that, if the League issue does not drive Republicans into a war inside the party, the majority in Southern California will be upwards of 200-000.

Johnson's Coming Resented.
Many staunch League supporters resent Johnson's coming, and, if he attacks the League, there is almost certain to be a mass meeting by friends of the League as an answering demonstration.

This is exactly what the Cox-Roosevelt supporters would like to see happen, for anything that disrupts a serene situation will benefit the Democrats, whose candidate is outspokenly for the League and has lately said he would accept any compromise reservation that might be agreed upon in the Senate.
Some Republicans of prominence fear the writer they would not dare to predict what would happen in California, if Senator Johnson assured the voters of the Southern part of the State on the League issue. It seems hardly possible for Gov. Cox to acquire enough strength to carry Southern California, but if he cuts down the expected large majority which Los Angeles might obtain, he gives Harding, and if the
San Francisco is to regain the Democratic vote in Northern California, the State might yet turn another Somersault.

LEAGUE COUNCIL ADJOURNS AFTER SETTLING DISPUTES BETWEEN FOUR NATIONS

Polish-Lithuanian Crisis Barring on War
Smoothed Out and Aaland Islands Problem Is Near Solution.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 21.—The ninth session of the Council of the League of Nations adjourned yesterday after having smoothed out difficulties between four nations in a controversy which at one time threatened to result in war. Through its action in the Polish-Lithuanian crisis the council succeeded in getting the two councils to agree to an immediate suspension of hostilities pending the settlement of their dispute, which both sides agreed to accept.

The Aaland Islands question likewise is considered in a fair way for settlement. A Finnish reservation was explained as not offering an insurmountable difficulty and as having been made largely for technical reasons.
League officials explained that,
although neither Finland nor Sweden was legally bound to accept the league's decision, they were moralitically bound to accept it. It was further pointed out that a settlement "if backed by public opinion, would virtually compel acceptance."
Count Quinones de Leon, Spanish
Ambassador to France, and Baron Kishiro Matsui, Japanese Vice Foreign Minister, have been appointed to represent the League of Nations in the settlement of the Polish-Lithuanian question, and it is expected that at least a tentative decision will be ready for the approval of the league council at its October session.

Poles Say Boundary Must Be De-

By the Associated Press.
RIGA, Sept. 21.—Poland's attitude concerning the ethnographical boundary was given officially to the Associated Press exclusively yesterday.

A definite description of this line
by the Poles is at present impossible because the question, it is said,
must be determined by an agreement between the Poles and the Bolsheviks for several reasons.

TRIAL OF KOREANS CAUSES UNREST IN TWO PROVINCES

Quiet Is Maintained in Seoul Where

By the Associated Press.
SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 21.—The trial of seven accused of conspiring for Korean independence has been resumed in the Court of Ap-

Quiet is maintained in the city of Seoul but the authorities admit that considerable unrest prevails in North and South Phyang-Yang Provinces.

Japanese Troops From Siberia to Be Relocated in Korea.

TOKIO, Sept. 21.—A Japanese transport returning with troops from Siberia is reported by the newspapers here to have disembarked contingents for Korea to strengthen the garrison to meet growing unrest.
The Hochi Shimbun says that Japan has sent a note to the United States explaining the evacuation of Khabarovsk.

It was announced early in September that the Japanese garrison at Khabarovsk would be withdrawn to Saghalien Island, and also that the Japanese troop in Siberia would be reduced from three to two divisions in accordance with the policy of gradual evacuation. Later it was reported that anti-red forces in Siberia opposed the withdrawal of

PATTONVILLE GIRL SAYS MAN FAILED TO WED; SEEKS $15,000

Breach of Promise Suit Filed Against Farmer, 45, by Miss Lillian Flowers.

Miss Lillian Cochrane Flowers of Pattonville, St. Louis County, today filed suit for $15,000 against August Gosejohann, 45 years old, a farmer, also of Pattonville, on the charge that Gosejohann has broken his promise to marry her. Gosejohann owns a large farm on the Fee-Fee and St. Charles Rock roads.

Miss Flowers said in her petition that Gosejohann proposed marriage to her last February and they were to be married this fall, in preparation for which she canned a quantity of fruit and purchased a number of household articles, said to have been stored at the home of Gosejohann's sister. Then Gosejohann changed his mind about getting married, as a result of which Miss Flowers said she has suffered great mental anguish.

PARALYZED AFTER HAZING

classmen. He was struck with a shown by its primary vote that it disagrees with Johnson.

"To inject this League issue in Southern California," said a Republi-deliberately invite Republican disaster and defeat."

Statement of Swedish Premier to Be Text of Democratic Orators

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The statement of Premier Branting of Sweden, formerly of the League of Nations, is being used by the chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who said that instructions had gone out to speakers to stress the matter.

"Americans should mark well Premier Branting's statement to the effect that the League of Nations will be able to avert between Sweden and Finland a sense situation over the Aaland Islands, a situation which might have led to war," said White.

First, Russian statistics are considered unreliable by the Poles.
2. The populations of the territory involved in the question of ethnographic Poland were changed materially during the war by immigration, some sections formerly Russian in character being now Polish, while some formerly Polish may possibly now be mostly Russian; therefore,
the ethnographic line is uncertain and must be discussed and determined by the peace conference upon facts to be established.

This is the first definite statement that has not been obtained from the Poles. The Polish representatives also said they considered that the size of their army must be proportionate to the armies of adjacent states, principally Russia and Germany.
The Poles are not yet prepared to announce all their counter-proposals.

Activity and Energy Demanded.
"The duty of the President of the republic involves at all times grave responsibilities. It demands activity and energy, free from all weakness, during the years when victorious France is called upon to reconstruct her domestic resources, meanwhile the peace conference is in the process of the treaty of peace so gloriously, but so dearly, gained."

"I have persevered even to the last extremity, but the hour has come when I shall fail in what I do not resign my functions into your hands. At the instant when I retire I dare express the hope that the representatives of the nation, who patriotic unity will maintain in peace their union for the greatness and prosperity of this adored France, to whose service I have devoted my life and who shall have me no thought."

Privilege Left to Successor.
"It will be the role and enviable privilege of my successor to glorify before the world which has failed in the past, the accomplishments of the republic, which, after having saved the national honor 50 years ago, has brought back under our flag Alsace and Lorraine."

It is a fulfilling of a most imperious, as well as the cruelest of duties,
I submit upon the desk of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies my resignation as President of the republic. PAUL DESCHANEL

Revision of Constitution Planned.
Revision of the French Constitution which will give greater stability to the Government and enlarge the electoral college will be attempted by Premier Millerand should he take office as President, according to newspapers here.

Under great pressure from various quarters the Premier yesterday agreed to permit his name to go up for election to the presidency. He would have the electoral college include not only members of the House of Parliament, but delegates from local elected bodies and from great corporations.

M. Millerand also believes the President should be elected for a fixed term, but the rule in the past, and that official should play a role of confident and cordial collaboration with the Government in office. In other words, his idea would be that the President should be like the head of a stock company, in which the Ministers would take the part of directors, and the Premier the managing director. He is convinced. It is said, that this plan would assure great continuity and cohesion in the executive branch of the Government.

Saloon Keeper Faces Third
Dry Law Violation Charge

Prohibition Agents Seize Whisky in Jacob Cohen's Bar at Seventh and Market.

Prohibition enforcement agents
last night for the third time found whisky behind the bar in the Cumberland Buffet, southwest corner of Seventh and Market streets. It was in a quart bottle, which was confiscated. The other raids were on March 10 and June 22.

An information will be asked for charging the proprietor, Jacob Cohen, who also owns the Faustet Cafe, 11 North Sixth street, with having whisky in his possession in violation of the Volstead act. Penalty for conviction of a third violation of this sort is punishable by not less than a fine of $200 and 30 days in jail and not more than a fine of $2000 and five years in the penitentiary.

The first two cases against Cohen
are still pending.

WOULD HAVE LOCAL BODIES REPRESENTED

Believes President Should Serve as Head of Corporation With Cabinet Members as Directors of Firm.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 21.—The resignation of Paul Deschanel as President of France, which he handed to Premier Millerand at Rambouillet last week, was read simultaneously in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies when those bodies reconvened today.

"My state of health," wrote Deschanel in his letter, "no longer permits me to assume the high functions with which your confidence invested me upon the occasion of the session of the National Assembly on Jan. 17 last."

"The absolute obligation imposed upon me to take a complete rest, makes it my duty to no longer declare announcing to you the decision
I have been compelled to report. It is infinitely painful, and it is with profound heart pangs that I renounce the great post of which you deemed me worthy."

According to the police, the trouble started when Barrett began abusing the negroes, threatening one of them. The negro is then said to have drawn a razor, almost severing Barrett's head at one stroke.
Barrett's friends, whose number was increased as they ran, gave chase to the negroes who took refuge in St. Gabriel's Catholic Church.

When Father Burke appeared in front of the church, the crowd swelled its shouting, but they refused to leave when he urged that they go home. The negroes had been taken from their hiding places and were in front of the altar praying. While the priest talked, police hurried the trio away. As the priest re-entered the church the tumult began again,
and he reappeared, telling the crowd that the negroes had been removed.
When one man in the assemblage threw a stone he was beaten by the others. The crowd dispersed.

The three negroes were besieged for more than an hour in St. Gabriel's.
The first report was that Barrett had gone to the rescue of a white girl who had been insulted. Shot after Barrett had been killed three negroes were dragged from a street car two blocks away and severely beaten. While the negroes reported concerned in the killing were in the church, two in the confessional and one back of the altar, sticks and stones were thrown at the church and frequent yells of "lynch them" came from the crowd.

Priest on the Scene.
The diminutive priest, with a smile and the word "sanctuary," did more than squads of police in preventing the threatened lynching of the negroes. When Father Burke reached the church, many of the crowd had entered in the search for the negroes. Forcing his way in, the priest shouted:

"What is this sacrilege? Who are the rowdies that storm the house of God?"

Some one explained:
"That makes no difference," the priest cried. "This place is sanctuary. I order every person in this building to leave immediately and quietly."

The men inside broke and fled out.
The last man had a letter from a police riot squad arrived. Taking the police inside, Father Burke called to the hidden negroes to come out.

There was a stir and one of the men stepped out from a confessional.

peared from behind the altar rail.
The men knelt and kissed the priest's hand as police hurried them out a side entrance.

Father Burke, smiling, went out to address the crowd.

SEVERAL WOUNDED FOLLOWING RESCUE

Word "Sanctuary" Effective

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Quiet pre-valled this morning in the stockyards district on the South Side, where last night a white man was killed in a row with three negroes.
Following the killing there were disturbances, which were quelled by the police, with the assistance of a priest, in whose church the negroes had taken refuge.

The disturbance, which ended when the police hurried the negroes
from the church, while Father Thomas M. Burke was talking to a crowd, estimated at several thousands, was followed by minor outbreaks, in which Frank J. Gevin, white, and several others, both negroes and whites, were reported wounded.

The man killed was Thomas E.
Barrett, an employe of the Chicago surface lines, who, the police say, had been arrested several times on charges of assaulting negroes. The three negroes charged with the kill-

FORMER ST. LOUIS GIRL MADE LEGION OF HONOR CHEVALIER

Mme. de Buyer-Mimeure Honored by France for Services Dur-

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Sept. 21.—Mme. de Buyer-Mimeure, formerly Miss Daisy Polk of San Francisco, has been made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in recognition of her services to France during the war. It was announced today.

Three years ago, while engaged in war work in France, Miss Polk married Gen. Marie Joseph Louis Robert de Buyer-Mimeure of the French Army, a well-known cavalry officer. Miss Polk earlier in that year had been in charge of the reconstruction of the village of Vitrimont, which had been destroyed by the Germans. Miss Polk was engaged in war relief work of various kinds.
Miss Polk, by her marriage, acquired the right to the title of Countess, as her husband bears the title of Count de Buyer-Mimeure.

Mme. de Buyer-Mimeure lived in St. Louis in her early youth. Her father was W. W. Polk, a well-known architect and one of the founders of the Merchants' Exchange.

Democratic City Committee Asks for Members of the Democratic City

by Com. A. J. P. Dwyer of the Twenty-second Ward, calling upon the British Government to release Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork, now in London. Most of the members of the City Committee themselves are Irish.

The resolution, which was called by Secretary James J. Fitzsimons of the committee, is as follows:

"Whereas, The Honorable Lord Mayor MacSwiney of Cork is being imprisoned in London for holding opinions with which this committee is in sympathy, this committee is of the opinion that the ends of true democracy would best be served by his release."

"Therefore, Be it resolved, that this committee cable a petition to the British Government requesting the immediate release of the Hon.
Lord Mayor MacSwiney."

PROUD WATCHES, 2 O'CLOCK PASSES, NO BOMB EXPLODES

Bowling Green Thronged
"When Time in 'Warning'" for Blast in New York Custom House Arrives.

TRAILING MEN WHO RAN FROM SCENE

Witness Tells of Three in Flight From Wall Street
Before Tragedy; "Death Wagon" of Chief Interest.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The New York Custom House was still standing at 2 o'clock today, the hour when officials were warned they might expect to see it blown up. The minutes ticked off without bringing trace of a single bomb or a single explosion. Bowling Green was filled with a curious throng, and the building itself was guarded by coast guards, customs inspectors, agents of the Department of Justice, policemen in uniform and policemen in plain clothes.

The warning of today's "explosion," following on the heels of the disaster in Wall street last Thursday, caused anxiety among some workers in lower Broadway, and resulted in the authorities taking unusual precautions, notwithstanding their expressed belief that the warning, conveyed on a postal received by Collector of Internal Revenue William H. Edwards, was nothing more than an alleged practical joke or the raving of some demented person.

Crowd of the Curious.
After warning, however, served to draw to the Custom House, the site of the old Fort Amsterdam, erected in 1828, the most curious crowd that has assembled in New York for many a day—a crowd which outwardly at least displayed no anxiety as it assembled.

As 2 o'clock approached, Bowling Green, opposite the Government building, began filling. The crowd was the expectant expression which might be expected on the faces of persons waiting for a circus parade.

Not only was Bowling Green crowded, but streets leading to the custom house also were filled. Traffic was cleared around the Government building and a big open space was maintained before the entrance.

All Vehicles Stopped.
In the rear of the building special guards stopped all vehicles, including mail trucks, and inspected packages before drivers were allowed to continue down an incline into the basement of the building, where the receiving station is located.

A touch of excitement came half an hour before the appointed moment when a wagon, containing a three-foot box and carrying a small flag dangling from a timber which protruded from the rear of the vehicle, drove up behind the Custom House. The crowd recalling the "death wagon" in the Wall street explosion, stared distrustfully
at the square of red cotton, forgetting for the moment that such flags are required to be hung on pipes or sticks protruding from vehicles.

Finally two Federal agents walked cautiously up to the vehicle and questioned the driver concerning his cargo. He answered frankly and truthfully—that the box contained tools for workmen on skyscrapers near the Custom House.
Meanwhile the movie machines clicked.

Federal and police authorities today are admittedly as far as ever from a solution of the mystery surrounding the explosion that spread death and destruction in Wall street last Thursday.
Clues at first apparently promising have not developed, and today officially the only real being followed is that supplied by Samuel B. Wellington, president of the West Indies Trading Co., who told newspaper men he remembered seeing three suspicious looking men hastening from in front of the United States assay office a few moments before the detonation knocked him unconscious. Wellington was asked to repeat his story today to the police and Chief William J. Flynn of the Department of Justice agents investigating the explosion, as well as to the September grand jury.

States custom guards were stationed inside the building, at the doors and around the building.

Fischer and Brailovsky.
Hopes of developments from questioning Edwin P. Fischer, lawyer, former employee of the French High Commission, and Alexander Brailovsky, Russian journalist, went glimmering with the commitment of the former for psychiatric observation in Bellevue Hospital and the unconditional release of the latter after authorities had satisfied themselves that he had nothing to do with the tragedy.

The incoherent and eccentric story of Fischer, who sent post card warnings, which he said he "received from the air," to friends here, convinced the Government agents of his "insane" condition, who were elated by the technical charge of being an undesirable alien, was no evidence to warrant prosecution.

Meade said that while walking up Broad street he noticed an old red delivery wagon in front of the assay office. The horse appeared broken down, and he went over to make an examination of it, finding a bad sore under the collar.

He looked at his watch and noticed it was 10:30, he told the police, and waited until 11:30 with the intention of serving a summons on the driver, when he was forced to leave. He did not examine closely the contents of the wagon, but described it as "an ordinary, dilapidated express wagon."

Meade also told the police the collar worn by the horse was of the "heat" type. This is the kind of collar he was found in the street
after the explosion. He also noticed that the ornamental knobs and other markings had been stripped from the harness, and in this, too, his description tallies with that of the material found. He also stated the horse had been but recently clipped and that the wagon bore no name but had some numbers on the side.

The "Greasy Lookin' 'tan." Wellington, in telling about the three suspicious looking men, declared he heard voices calling: "Harry!"
"Heat it!" "Get out of this!"
He looked across the street and saw two middle-aged men, who looked to him like "East Side peddlers," beckoning and calling to a third man who was on the other side of the street near the Assay Office and across the street from the Morgan bank. The third man, believed to be about 60 years old and described as "greasy looking," was wearing into the ramshackle wagon at the curb.
In response to the call of the others, the third man, Wellington said, started to run after them toward William street. He took them for bond thieves, he added, and expected to see them chased by a policeman.

COSTLY ESTATE BEING PREPARED BETWEEN RIVERS

Country Place of More Than 400 Acres, Lying Between Mississippi and Meramec,
Will Cost $1,000,000.

Motorists and picnic parties going into the southeastern extremity of St. Louis County have observed landscape artists and architects busy on the ground work of a country estate of large dimensions at the mouth of the Meramec River.

A Post-Dispatch reporter visited the place yesterday and learned that the property is known as "Hillcrest," and that the owner is G. F.
Wood-Smith, who, with his wife and 12-year-old daughter, occupies, for the time being, the adjacent country place known as "White House," which was the former residence of Arthur Christopher. Wood-Smith is vice president of the Standard Steel Tank Car Co., Arcade building, and came from the East a few years ago to conduct his business at a point closer to its markets.

His estate comprises more than 400 acres, lying between the Mississippi and Meramec rivers, at their confluence, part being valley land laid out in model farms, and the remainder woodland.

Have Worked Two Years.
The enhancement of the wooded portion, with additional trees and with shrubbery, roadways, paths, pergolas, gardens, terraces, statues
and pools has already consumed nearly two years, and has progressed to the point where the central adornment, the dwelling, ground for which was broken yesterday. It will be one of the most beautiful and extensive estates along the Mississippi River.

Completion of the house and surroundings will take about two years, while the landscaping is expected to continue on for five years. It is said that the consummation of the plan for the estate will require several hundred thousand dollars, and that the total cost, with the land, will be close to $1,000,000.

Raymond A. Martz of the firm of Martz, Henderson & Young, architects, in the Chemical Building, drew the plan and is executing it.
Design for House.

The reporter learned that the house, which is to be on a bluff more than 300 above the river, will be a long, one-story building of native limestone such as the bluffs are made of, a stone that is grayish-brown, and will be a simple, symmetrical, story over the main floor as a protection from heat and cold. The house will be 108 by 72 feet, and will have 16 rooms on the main floor, and a number of smaller rooms in the basement.

Sunken Garden Prepared.
At the southwest corner of the lawn, wide steps descend 20 feet or more into a sunken garden on the side of the bluff, which on the south is less precipitous than the river bluffs. A high wall similar to the balustrade being a rubble wall, surmounted with smooth blocks of Bedford limestone from Indiana and ornamented with rock urns about eight yards apart.

The garden's central figure, a circular, is based on a natural rock part of the bluff, chiseled clean, and supporting a fabricated stone backing. A red-slate-roofed pergola at the southeast corner of the garden commands a broad view of the river.
"Hillcrest" is reached by the Telegraph road, and from the end of that road to the house a private road a mile long has been built.
Gutters for it two feet wide are being built of flat rock. There is a station on the Missouri Pacific Railroad at the foot of the bluff. The Meramec River is not visible from the home site.

CLERK ARRESTED IN INVESTIGATION OF DETECTIVE'S DEATH

Walter Taylor, 28, Admits That He Used Auto, Mentioned in Case, on Night of Murder.

Walter Taylor, 28 years old, of 3504A Olive street, a clerk, was arrested last night in the police inquiry into the killing of William T. Danaher, 22 years old, a detective for the Terminal Railroad Association, who was murdered early Sunday and whose body with a penetrating cut in the skull was found on the Campton avenue viaduct.

Danaher, as was told yesterday, is believed to have been slain because of his activity in trying to run down the robbers who stole registered mail valued at more than $25,000 from a Missouri Pacific train near Tower Grove station the night of Aug. 18 last.

Taylor was arrested in the general round-up after the killing because of information that he had driven a dilapidated Ford touring car Saturday night or early Sunday. It was in such a car that Danaher's body was taken to the viaduct by four men after Danaher had been attacked and knocked down at the Cadillac Cafe, 2901 Olive street. After the first arrest Taylor was released.

License Number Given.
Yesterday a man who said he was near the Cadillac Cafe early Sunday and saw Danaher placed in an automobile informed the police that the license number of the car was 55-597. This license was traced to Walter Nick, of 4049A Olive street, a proprietor of a news agency at 725
High street.

Nick acknowledged ownership of a dilapidated Ford carrying "his license number" and said he loaned the car to Taylor Saturday. This led to Taylor's second arrest.

Taylor told the police he used the car Saturday night for a drive with his wife and stepdaughter. He said that after leaving them at his home between 11 o'clock and midnight he drove the car to Nick's news agency on High street and left it there. This, according to his account, was more than an hour before Danaher was attacked. He said he went into Nick's store, slept there two hours and then went home on a street car.
He denied he was at the Cadillac Cafe Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Released on Bond.
Taylor said Nick was not at the news stand when he went there and he did not arrive when he awoke and started home. The machine, he said, was still standing there when he left the place.

Frank Marshall of 4151A Laclede avenue, who was arrested on the viaduct and who was ordered held as an accessory by a coroner's jury yesterday, viewed Taylor after his second arrest and said Taylor was not the man who drove the machine in which Danaher's body was carried. Taylor, after being questioned, was released on a common law bond.

GIRL, 15, LOCKS POLICE MATRON IN CELL AND ESCAPES

Stella Supitkowsky Walks Past Offices of Police Chiefs in Fleeing From Fourth Floor at Headquarters.

Stella Supitkowsky, 15 years old,
of 1015 Howard street, held as a witness for the Federal Government, looked the police matron in a cell-room on the fourth floor of Police Headquarters today at 11:30 a. m.
when she walked down three flights of stairs and out of the building, escaping.

The matron, Mary Lane Kintzing, had entered the cellroom with dinner for Stella and another girl. She left the cell room, the door of which the Supitkowsky girl slipped behind the matron, out of the door, closing and locking it and taking the key with her. She went on out through the reception room, the door of which looked behind her, and proceeded downstairs past the offices of the Chief of Police, the Chief of Detectives and the office of the captain of headquarters.

Mrs. Kintzing began to rattle the cell room door, but no one heard her. Ernest Minden, a clerk of the Board of Police Commissioners, going to the matron's quarters 20 minutes later, got no response to his ringing for admittance. He peeked through a keyhole which, it chanced, was on a line with the cell room, in which he observed the matron. She was then released.

The girl was being held as a wit-

FRIENDS, UNABLE TO SAVE HIM, WATCH MAN DYING IN WELL

Arrangement of Mirrors Enables Them to See Tragedy 14 Feet Below Ground.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—By means of three mirrors, hung in a shaft 74
feet deep and 36 inches in diameter, watchers yesterday saw Thomas Dorbatuk die, and today rescuers sought to remove his body from the bottom of a well at Waukegan.

Frutless attempts were made to save the man's life when his head became wedged against a rock after he was overcome by gas fumes. The rock projected 12 inches into the shaft.

Firemen, wearing gas masks, attempted to reach Dorbatuk, but only one man could descend at a time and he was wedged too tightly to be removed. The fumes even penetrated the firemen's masks and none could remain in the shaft.
When hope was abandoned a large mirror to which was attached a large candlestick bulb was lowered into the shaft and tipped at an angle to permit Dorbatuk's reflection to be transmitted to a second mirror near the mouth of the shaft. The rescuers adjusted a hand glass until it mirrored the reflection of the tragedy 74 feet below. Dorbatuk could be seen struggling weakly. The men called to him. He attempted to reply, but his head dropped against his breast as he gasped out his last breath.

overcrowding on election day, Nov.
2, will be requested by the Election Board to do their voting between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m., and to leave the early morning and late evening periods for voters, both men and women, who are in business employment during the day.

Plans to Facilitate Voting.
Another plan of the board, announced by Commissioner Dempsey today, is to send postal cards to voters in the most largely populated precincts, informing each of the number of the line on which his or her name appears in the registration list. The voter, on announcing his or her name to the election officials, will be expected to give the number with it, thus saving them time in hunting up the name on the books.

Commissioner Dempsey said there were only 23 precincts where the registration is more than 700. He believes that the chief problem will be in these precincts, and that there will be little difficulty in precincts
where the number is less than 700.
Of the 23 precincts, 17 have from 700 to 800 registered, 2 from 600 to 900, and one, the Twenty-eighth Ward, seventh precinct, with polling place at 6311 Pershing avenue, has 1288. The Board fears there may be a jam here, and at Saturday's meeting, the Board will consider the question of increasing the force of judges and clerks at this and other large precinct polling places. It is not known whether this can be done legally.

The board, having increased the number of polling places from 600 to 600 and having announced the 600
places, holds that it cannot increase the number for this election. However, the number of voters in the or booths for the preparation of ballots will be increased in all the larger precincts. The board has ordered 1000 more of these booths, costing a total of $19,000, and they will be distributed through the precincts.

CONDENSERY TO KEEP ON SELLING MILK HERE

Illinois Company Refuses Demand of Producers to Stop Shipping Fresh Product.

The Halveta Milk Condensing Co., which operates condenseries at Highland and Greenville, Ill., yesterday communicated a refusal to the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association to comply with the association's demand that it cease to sell fresh milk to St. Louis distributors.

The producers and the distributors have been at deadlock over prices, the distributors offering $3.55 per 100 pounds and the producers demanding $3.60.
W. C. Connett, president of the Cities Dairies Co., who has been acting as spokesman for the distributors, said yesterday that enough milk was coming to St.
Louis to supply the demand and that enough would continue though the producers' association declare an embargo.

The reply of the condensery to the producers was in part as follows:
"Your demand carries the force of an ultimatum. If not the direct declaration, that unless we comply with your demand, you will call a strike of our patrons. To that we make this reply—

"1. We have milk to sell from other plants. We have been seeking a market for it in order to avoid the necessity of closing the plants, and we shall sell it where we can. It is available for St. Louis market.
"2. We shall not now, or at any time, deal in any way for the purchase of milk with an organization that uses as a weapon, or threatens to use, the organized strike. Let this be taken as final. We shall have nothing to do with an organization that would use the organized strike, even in direct violation of between the parties, to enforce their demands through starvation of the people who have for years furnished a market for their goods. Much less will we deal with an organization which resorts to the sym-phetic strike which you threaten."

The company declared that if their condenseries were forced to cease business they would remain closed.

THEATER REFUSED BY M'KELVEY

A request of Tate & Cella for permission to reopen the Imperial Theater at the southeast corner of Tenth and Pine street, as a vaudeville house, was refused today by Director of Public Safety McKelvey, after building inspectors had reported on the conditions found to exist in the building. The report stated that the walls and roof were in bad condition, that there was a winding stairway from balcony and gallery and that the frame construction was used to the point of extreme hazard.
Rebuilding with fireproof material, straight stairways and alteration of the fire escapes will be necessary before the theater can be used again, the director said.

The Imperial has been closed for two seasons. It was last used as a movie theater. It was the home of the "30s, of Lawrence Hanley's stock company, and Blanche Hanes played there in "The Darling of the Gods" through the summer of 1914, the World's Fair season.

ROME'S 50 YEARS AS CAPITAL OF UNITED ITALY CELEBRATED

Anniversary of the Proclamation Observed With Gala Processions.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Sept. 21.—All Italy joined yesterday in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of Rome as the capital of United Italy. The exercises, for the most part, took the form of gala processions during the afternoon and evening.

In this city the most impressive scene was at Porta Pia, through which gate the Italian troops entered Rome after a short bombardment on Sept. 20, 1870, there, 100,000 people of every class assembled and sang patriotic songs, cheered the King and the army, and waved flags, among which were many belonging to cities redeemed by the great war. The ceremonies were official in nature, and were followed by a great procession headed by bands and made brilliant by the national emblem and banners of associations and municipalities. Throngs massed along the route frantically cheered as the parade went by.

On the platform at Porta Pia was the Mayor of Rome, Sheriffs, communal and provincial councillors, and the Mayors of Zaira, Metz, Strasbourg and other cities. Representatives of every corps of the Italian army were present. A patriotic speech was made by the Mayor, and telegrams of congratulations were sent to the King, and their reading evoked fresh outbursts of applause. The animated scenes of the day were repeated during the evening, and later the crowds dispersed quietly. The day was without untoward incidents.

Don't Distort Feet

WILL baby's perfect little feet stay that way? Or will its toes later be bent and crumpled up like yours?

The surest preventive is to start baby's feet in Educators. Shaped scientifically, they "let the feet grow as they should." No corns, bunions, callouses, ingrowing nails, or weak arches ever come to Educator wearers.

Bring your children here for good-looking, long-wearing Educators. Wear them yourself, and enjoy the foot-freedom Nature intended you to have.

ANNUAL CAMPFIRE OF G. A. R. SET FOR TONIGHT

Union Opens at Indianapolis With Many Notables in Attendance.

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 21.—Old friendships were to be renewed and stories of the day when they battled for the Union recounted as the principal activities today of the 1920 encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which formally opened here yesterday. Slightly regimental and brigade reunions were set for today, and tonight the annual campfire will be held.

The National Council of Administration of the organization met this morning, but the business sessions of the encampment will not be held until Thursday morning.

The various organizations affiliated with the G. A. R. were to open their meetings today. The business sessions of the National Association of Naval Veterans 1861-65, Sons of Veterans, Ladies of the G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps, Daughters of Veterans, Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary, and of the Union ex-Prisoners of War are being held in conjunction with the encampment.

Indiana Governor Speaks.
The veterans and the affiliated organizations were formally welcomed to the city and State at a meeting last night. Mayor Charles W. Jewett, Gov. James P. Goodrich, and Judge Robert W. McBride, Commander of the Department of Indiana, delivered addresses of welcome. Daniel M. Hall of Columbus, Ohio, National Commander of the G. A. R., responded for that organization.

The organization at the business session Thursday will be asked to increase the per capita tax from 3 1/2 cents, at which figure it has been for 30 years, to 10 cents. It was stated by members of the National Council of Administration, that the dwindling membership made the move necessary. The membership of 334,000 in 1890 has dwindled to 102,200, Commander Hall said.

Among the notables attending the encampment are Dr. Robert T. Harding of Marion, O., father of Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee; former Congressman Washington Gardner of Albion, Mich., a former commander in chief; former Gov. Joseph W. Pifer of Illinois and Lieut. Gov. P. A. Barrows of Nebraska.

Old Ohio Guard Attracts.
"The old guard of Ohio"—its members ranging from 75 to 90 years of age, attracted considerable attention last night, as, with Springfield rifles shouldered according to the manual of arms of the 'sixties, it marched to its headquarters. The veterans' headquarters drum corps of Milwaukee also was the subject of much attention.

NO WOMEN JURORS AT CAPITAL

Judge Rules They Cannot Serve Because of Wording of Code.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Because Congress, in writing the code for the District of Columbia, used the term "man" in connection with jury duty, women are at present ineligible. This opinion was expressed yesterday by Justice Gould of the District Supreme Court.

"I should be disinclined, in the face of the wording of the code," said Justice Gould, "which uses the term 'man' to hold that a woman could qualify for jury duty in a criminal case. I am inclined to think that Congress would have to amend the code before it would be safe to accept women as jurors in this District."

MUSIC AND DANCING FEATURED AT ORPHEUM

Millicent Mower, Coloratura Soprano, Shows Remarkable Vocal Artistry.

Music and dancing, both of superior quality, and a sketch that turns out laughter in quantity production are features of one of the most evenly balanced bills of the season at the Orpheum. Those who enjoy good singing will be surprised and delighted by the virtuosity and artistry of Millicent Mower, a coloratura soprano, who sings opera arias and semi-classical romantic ballads with rare sweetness and clarity.

For those who like songs of the more modern kind, interspersed with the sumptuous act presented by Harry Carroll and a company in which Tom Dingle, Patsy Delaney and Ruth Savoy are the terpsichorean stars, while Carroll himself and Grace Fisher carry off the singing honors.

On the dancing side also there is a turn by the lithe and wonderfully active Cameron sisters.

The laugh-getting sketch on the bill is "The Junior Partner," by Rupert Hughes, presented by William Gaxton and a clever company. The breezy young hero runs a shoe-strapping up to a fortune in a breath-taking manner.

The Swor brothers are back with their inimitable characterizations of Southern dandies. On the bill also are Sellini and Grovini in a juggling and bicycle act and Oscar Lorraine, the "violin nuttist."

"Stunt" Flyer Dies of Injuries.

By the Associated Press. SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Harry J. (Tex) McLaughlin, 28 years old, who was struck by the propeller of his airplane when performing "stunts" at the New York State Fair ground yesterday afternoon, died last night.

BERGDOLLS WERE HOME IN APRIL, 1919, RELATIVES TESTIFY

Mother and Brother Say Draft Dodgers Were Together in Philadelphia.

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—Testimony that Erwin and Grover Bergdoll, convicted draft dodgers, were together in this city in April, 1919, was given in the trial of their mother, Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, their brother, Charles A. Braun, James E. Romig, Albert S. Mitchell and Henry Schuh, on charges of conspiring to aid in their evasion of military service, which opened here yesterday in the United States District Court.

Fitzhughlee Creedon told of being summoned to Erwin Bergdoll's home at Bernal and being invited to accompany Erwin on a trip to the South.

Braun, the brother who changed his name because of the notoriety brought by escapades of his younger brothers, was with Erwin and him the night before they left, according to the witness.

Other witnesses were called by the Government to show that Erwin and Grover had been properly inducted into the service, had failed to report for duty and were listed as deserters.

Erwin is now serving a sentence in Fort Leavenworth, while Grover, who escaped while on a trip to this city under guard from Governor's Island, still is a fugitive.

MOSES SAYS HE PREFERS COVENANT TO PEACE TREATY

Senator Declares It Might Be Possible to Get Out of League After Two Years.

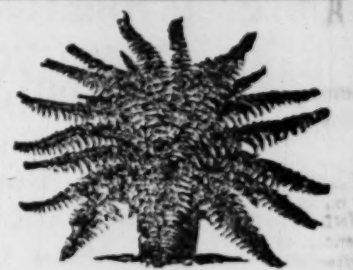

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Addressing a meeting in Carnegie Hall last night under auspices of the New York Salesmen's Harding and Coolidge League, United States Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, declared if he had to choose between casting his vote for the treaty of peace or the covenant of the League of Nations, he would vote unhesitatingly for the covenant.

"It might be possible to get out of the league after two years," he added, "but if we ever put our name to that treaty, we will be embroiled in every question of European politics and would never get out."

He said he had seen four leagues of nations in existence in the Balkans and all had failed when the test came.

"I am willing," he said, "to have an association of nations as favored by Senator Harding. Am I willing that the United States enter the next war? I say yes. I do not know when or where it will be. I am willing that the United States enter the next war, but enter as she has entered all wars, from the prompting of her own generous heart and not at the command of nine foreigners sitting at Geneva, Switzerland. I stand with Senator Harding in wiping out every vestige of the instrument brought back by President Wilson."

Does a few hours work completely tire you out?

OF ALL THINGS which might cause you to grow tired after an hour or two of work in the forenoon, you would least suspect your mattress.

Nevertheless, if your mattress is not suited to the individual needs of your body, it will surely exert a subtle influence which will retard the tissue and cell renewing function of sleep, and deprive you of that reserve strength so indispensable to sustained effort of body and brain.

The important consideration in the selection of a mattress is to know to a certainty that it will suit your physical needs as related to the function of sleep. To thus serve the sleeper is the outstanding feature of the Sealy Sanitary Tuftless Mattress.

Relieve the Body of Tension and Pressure

At bed time, your tissues and cells are completely worn away from the previous hours of mental and physical effort. Sleep must restore these health forces.

To accomplish this your body must be free from pressure and tension during sleep.

Your mattress should "give" with such ease of resistance as to eliminate undue pressure at the hips and shoulders, where the body lies heaviest. It should also "fill in" the arches of the back, relieving the body of tension. This is precisely what the Sealy Sanitary Tuftless Mattress does.

One Giant Cotton Batt Inseparably Interwoven

The remarkable manner in which the Sanitary Tuftless Sealy retains its original undulating qualities is due to its consisting of a Single Giant Batt of Long Fibre Cotton inseparably interwoven by the Exclusive Sealy Air-Weave Process.

This batt is five feet high when completed. It is then gently pressed down, inserted into and released within the covering to the prescribed softness and generous depth of the mattress.

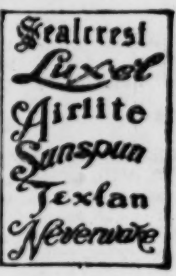

An occasional sunbath such as you would give any mattress permanently preserves the original softness of the Sanitary Tuftless Sealy.

Old Fashioned Quality Rigorously Maintained

The custom, inaugurated by the Sealy Mattress Company nearly a half century ago, of using only the highest grade cotton available is today rigorously maintained.

Sealy-Made Tufted Mattresses

Where a Tufted Mattress will suffice, better values than the Sealy-Made Brands listed at the right cannot be had. Like the Sealy each is made exclusively of new materials and bears a label guaranteeing the character and quality of its contents.

U. S. HOPES SOON TO END OCCUPATION OF HAYTI, COLBY SAYS

Secretary Announces "Benevolent Purpose" of America's Hand in Affairs Is Nearing Attainment.

"NO THOUGHT EXCEPT TO HELP PEOPLE"

Dominican Representative Protests Against U. S. Intervention, Upholding Harding's Charges.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Announcing that the "benevolent purpose" of this country's occupation of the island of Hayti was "nearing attainment," Secretary Colby declared in a statement last night that the United States "hopes" to withdraw and leave the island's administration to the "unaided efforts of the Haytian people" when that purpose has been fully achieved. "The relations of the United States with Hayti," the Secretary added, "should not be misrepresented even under the temptations that a political campaign presents to irresponsible utterances and conscious untruths."

While not replying directly to recent charges by Senator Harding, the Republican presidential nominee, that the administration was conducting "unconstitutional warfare" against Hayti and San Domingo, Secretary Colby recited at length the history of American occupation and defended it as being guided by "no thought except to help" their people. Senator Harding's attack on the administration's record in Hayti was made in connection with a criticism of statement by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice presidential nominee. Earlier in the day it was learned that the State Department had informed G. Baran, Haytian Minister of Foreign Affairs, that the salaries of the President and other officials of the Haytian Government, which have been withheld since last June, would be so withheld until the native Government ceased to interfere with the carrying out of certain provisions of the treaty entered into at the time of this country's occupation of the island.

Dominican Official Protests. Protest against American intervention in San Domingo was made last night by Julio M. Oestero, representing the Dominican junta in the United States. Referring to the recent declarations by Senator Harding and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Oestero declared the citizens of the Dominican Republic "have never sought the present American intervention" and have never ceased to ask for "restoration of their freedom and sovereignty."

In his statement last night Secretary Colby said in part: "The position of the United States with relation to Hayti should not be misunderstood and it certainly should not be misrepresented even under the temptations that a political campaign presents to irresponsible utterances and conscious untruths."

"This country is engaged in a task which has only a benevolent purpose. It is a task which was defined in a treaty entered into by the two countries. The work which the United States undertook is nearing completion and upon its completion this Government hopes to withdraw and leave the administration of the island to the unaided efforts of the Haytian people."

Island Scene of Disorders. "As is well known, for many years prior to 1915, the island of Hayti was the scene of chronic disorders. The revolutions were sometimes accompanied by wholesale massacres and always by serious fatalities. The culmination of these conditions came with the murder of President Vilbrun Guillaume Sam, who was dragged by a mob from the French legation where he had taken refuge. This grave affront to the rights of the French Government resulted in the landing of French troops in Port au Prince. At this time Hayti's European creditors were pressing for payment of the foreign debts and fear was generally entertained that murder of the Haytian President would prompt an aggressive program on the part of some European Government which would not only challenge the Monroe doctrine, but arraign the United States for a failure to perform duties it had expressly assumed as a part of the Monroe doctrine. These duties have nowhere found more explicit statement than in the addresses and messages of the late President Roosevelt."

Occupied Port in 1915. "In performance of this duty the United States, with the full assent of public opinion, occupied the city of Port au Prince Sept. 3, 1915. Proclamation of martial law was made by Admiral Caperton, commanding officer of the forces of the United States in Hayti and Haytian waters. It was stated that no interference would be suffered with the proceeding of the constitutional Government and Congress of Hayti or with the administration of justice in the courts of law which did not affect the military operations or the authorities of the United States Government. All municipal and civil employees were requested to continue in their vocations without change. "A few days after a convention was signed expressing the mutual desires of both countries to strengthen the amity between them by measures for the common advantage. The United States obligated itself to assist Hayti in three specific ways to cooperate with the Haytian Government in placing the revenues and finances on a stable basis, to help the Haytian Government to maintain tranquility throughout the Republic, and to contribute in other proper ways to advance the prosperity of the Republic and welfare of its people.

"The United States has confined its energies entirely to the announced purposes of its occupation and, as a result, complete tranquility exists throughout the Republic. The Haytian revenues are greatly improved."

KENYON COMMITTEECampaign Fund Inquiry to Be Resumed Tomorrow in Washington.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Objectives of the Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures in resuming its hearings here tomorrow were said by Chairman Kenyon last night to be the "clearing up of loose ends" growing out of the earlier hearings and inquiry into alleged political activities of the liquor interests.

The series of hearings Senator Kenyon said, is expected to be concluded Saturday. In cleaning up loose ends, Chairman Kenyon said the committee would hear William Boyce Thompson, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Republican National Committee and William Barnes of New York. Thompson is to be questioned, it was said, regarding contributions and expenditures made by the Republican National Committee, while Barnes is to be examined regarding the publication of the campaign book "Republicanism in 1920."

Preparatory to the inquiry as to alleged participation of liquor interests in the campaign, a subpoena has been issued for George T. Carroll of Elizabeth, N. J., president of the National Retail Liquor Dealers' Association of America.

Other witnesses to be heard were said by Chairman Kenyon to include Charles McDonald and Edward Stokes, chairman respectively of the Democratic and Republican State Central Committees in New Jersey; James W. Gerard of New York, Eastern treasurer for the Democratic National Committee, and Herbert S. Houston, treasurer of the League to Enforce Peace.

Senator Kenyon said that calling of the two New Jersey State chairmen was in line with the committee's decision to take that State as an example for the purpose of ascertaining what was being done by the State organizations in raising money in addition to national funds. "It may be we will call representatives from other states before we get through," the chairman added. He said, however, that he did not believe a large number of witnesses would be heard.

HAYTI, COLBY SAYS

and much progress has been made in road construction, port works, establishment of telegraphs, etc. "These results have been brought about by Americans appointed under the provisions of the treaty, and from every quarter in Hayti, with the exception of a few centers of selfish and interested agitation, credit and gratitude are freely manifested and expressed to this Government."

"The course of this country has been moderate and dictated only by the desire to meet its duties. Had less been done, this country would have been guilty of a dereliction of duty."

"As to assertions that the National City Bank of New York has received improper support from this Government in the matter of its Haytian branch, the following are the facts:

"No assistance or support has been given the National City Bank in Hayti other than that which would be extended to any first-class American bank in any foreign country."

"Far from encouraging the National City Bank in obtaining monopolistic privileges in connection with its interests in Hayti, the department has used its influence towards preventing the National City Bank enjoying monopolistic privileges."

"The National City Bank does not control the customs collections, nor is it the financial arbiter of Hayti. It exercises no control of loans, exchange rates or commercial transactions as has been charged."

$100,000 Raised for Republic.

As evidencing popular support in San Domingo for the movement to secure withdrawal of the American administration, Cestero in his statement declared that a contribution of $100,000 was raised at patriotic meetings held last June in "every city and village in San Domingo," to be turned over to Dr. Henriquez, President de jure, for the work of the national junta.

"The Dominican legitimate claim to home rule and self-determination has never been yielded," he asserted, "and, as a special commission sent to the country by the American Federation of Labor reported, it is the uppermost thought in the minds of our people."

"We trust that the Government of the United States will soon recognize our just claims, so that the people of the Dominican republic can cooperate anew with the people of the United States in carrying forward the Dominican ideals."

Navy Department Charged With Covering Up Misrule in Hayti.By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Charges that the Navy Department's "strict censorship on news from Hayti" is keeping full reports of the department's inquiry into alleged misrule on the island from the American people were made in a statement last night by James Walden Johnson, acting secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Allegations of misconduct by United States marines in Hayti, made by Johnson, are believed to be responsible for the inquiry.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENTS

None of the Injured Was a "Jay Walker"—Truck Hits Street Car.

Six motor vehicle accidents, in which five persons were injured, were reported to the police yesterday afternoon. Not one of them, so far as shown by the reports, was the result of "jay-walking," against which a placard campaign is now being conducted.

Arnita Logan, 6 years old, a negro, 1123 Brooklyn street, was crossing Twelfth street at the corner of Brooklyn, when an automobile struck her. The driver of the car, Morris A. Cherry, president of a dress manufacturing company at Twelfth and North Market streets, said he sounded his horn. He was not arrested, as the child's bruises did not appear to be serious.

An alley near Twenty-first and Walnut streets was the scene of an accident in which William E. Lloyd, 64, a negro, living in the neighborhood, was run down by an automobile and cut and bruised. The driver of the machine ran away, and the owner, when found by the police, said that a negro had taken the machine without his sanction, after he had asked the negro to get him some gasoline.

Knocked From Wagon.

At Seventeenth and Biddle streets, Bernard Feldman, 64, of 1198 Biddle, was knocked from his one-horse wagon by an automobile driven by Alfred Beifus of Dorchester, Ill., and Feldman's right thigh was fractured. Beifus was arrested.

Jacob Reichberger, 42, of 1453 Madison street, a sprinkling inspector of the City Street Department, drove a city automobile south on Eleventh street at such a rate of speed that the driver of a car on Angelica street had to turn upon the sidewalk to get out of his way. Reichberger and William Vedder, 2100 Blair avenue, who were with him, were sent to the city hospital, for treatment for alcoholism, and a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated was made against Reichberger. This is a misdemeanor.

A motor cycle carrying a side car was overturned in front of 328 Pine street, when the driver, Edward Latham of Carsonville, swerved to avoid a threatened collision with an automobile. Andrew Beverage, 33 years old, 2224 Franklin avenue, who was in the side car, was thrown out, and his right arm was fractured. He was taken to the city hospital.

A motor truck driven by Joseph Newell, 19, collided with a Cherokee car at Ninth and Soular streets. Patrolman John A. Hartman, who was on the street car, was knocked down, cut and bruised. He later arrested Newell, who lives at 2800 Eads avenue.

BAR AGAINST REMARRIAGE OF DIVORCEES RECOMMENDED

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Prohibition of the remarriage of divorcees during the life of either party is the "only effective way to cure the divorce evil," declares Supreme Court Justice Russell Benedict in an opinion handed down today. After criticizing the 1919 Legislature for shortening from five to three years the period after which an application for permission to remarry might be made, Justice Benedict asserted that the "lawmakers might well authorize the court to require the consent of the injured spouse before granting the application."

Many years' experience upon the bench has proved, Justice Benedict said, that "a large proportion of divorce actions would never have been brought if the plaintiff were prohibited from contracting a new alliance, arrangements for which are not infrequently made before the suit is begun."

ANTI-SEMITIC OUTRAGES IN EAST GALICIA REPORTED

Refugees Declare Troops of Ukrainian Leader Are Killing Many Jews.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Sept. 21.—Jewish refugees arriving in Vienna declare that the troops of Gen. Petlura, the Ukrainian leader, are committing widespread anti-semitic outrages in East Galicia. The refugees give a list of towns in the districts between the Russian frontier and Tarnow, and say the whole region is terrorized.

They assert the Jews in Gliniaka sought refuge in a temple, whereupon the soldiers set fire to the building, burning 15 of the Jews to death. Then the soldiers shot 30 more in the square, according to the refugees.

LIVESTOCK MEN ASK RESERVE BOARD'S AID

Seek Approval of Credits to Raise Money to Finance Cattle Raising Industry.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Relief from what was described as possible "destruction of the live stock industry," through curtailment of banking loans was sought from the Federal Reserve Board yesterday by a committee of live stock producers. They asked the board to encourage banks of the reserve system to aid them financially in raising and marketing their product. The committee, which came as the representatives of a Chicago conference of producers, packers and bankers, predicted dire consequences to the live stock industry unless bankers and cattle loan companies discontinue "calling" loans. They said millions of dollars in loans were maturing this fall, and they believed a re-assurance from the board that it approved of such credit extension by the banks would lessen the difficulties.

Billion Is Promised.
In replying Gov. Harding said the board's policy has been to look upon the live stock and other food producing industries as "vitally essential." He explained that the board could not direct or compel loans by any banks, but that it had planned with the reserve banks for aid for the agricultural interests to the extent of nearly $1,000,000,000 this year.

Spokesmen for the producers' committee told the board that, as a result of the credit situation, the "little cowman or sheepman" was being forced to dispose of young stock, which, if he could borrow more money, would have been kept on the farms and ranges. Frank J. Hagenbarth of Salt Lake declared this to be the indication of "a destruction of the industry."

Discussing the difficulties encountered by the producers in obtaining financial backing, Senator Jones, New Mexico, declared Eastern bankers for not "helping the live stock men of the West, instead of financing automobile manufacturers in exporting their products to Europe."

For Actual Production.
Gov. Harding interrupted to assure the Senator that the board could not say to member banks that they should or should not loan to the motor manufacturer.

Gov. Harding said he did not believe the producers who were borrowing were employing the credit that they might withhold the meat supply from the market. The board's information, he said, showed the loans to live stock men, in most cases, were for actual production purposes.

Other members of the delegation besides Hagenbarth were Dr. J. W. Wilson, McKinley, Wyo.; Charles C. Collins, Carson City, Nev.; L. A. Vant, St. Joseph, Mo., and John Fletcher, Chicago.

KING ALBERT SAYS EUROPE MUST HAVE AMERICA'S AID

Belgian Monarch Speaks to Brazilian Congress on Need of Close Collaboration.

By the Associated Press.
RIO JANEIRO, Sept. 21.—Europe's dependence upon the New World was referred to here yesterday by King Albert of the Belgians when he replied to an address of welcome delivered at a joint session of Congress. Speaking of conditions in Europe, the King said:

"Yesterday we were your creditors; today we are your debtors. We depend upon you and are counting on you to assist us in the terrible crisis through which we are passing. Close collaboration between America and Europe can save civilization."

President Pessoa gave an official dinner in honor of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth last night, the guests including members of the Cabinet, men in Rio, and Brazilian affairs and foreign Ambassadors. Later there was an official reception at the presidential palace.

MISSOURI GRAND LODGE OF MASONS MEETS AT KANSAS CITY

Gov. Gardner and the Rev. E. Comble Smith to Speak at Cornerstone Ceremony.

By the Associated Press.

Gov. F. D. Gardner and the Rev. E. Comble Smith of St. Louis will be principal speakers at the cornerstone ceremonial which will take place late today. Joseph G. Garret of St. Louis, Master of the Grand Lodge, and other Grand Lodge officials will be in charge. The new temple, when completed, will cost about $750,000.

Outrigger Rescuers; Burns to Death.

By the Associated Press.
PARAGOULD, Ark., Sept. 21.—With his clothing ablaze, Martin Dubik of Sommers, Wis., fled from rescuers who sought to turn fire extinguishers on him and the flames so badly burned him before they overtook him that he died early yesterday when being brought to this city from St. Louis. Dubik was repairing a gasoline engine when his clothes caught fire.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR FIRST WARD ALDERMAN NAMED

Max Koepfen Selected at Meeting of Precinct Committee for Godfrey Successor.

Max Koepfen, who conducts a barber shop at 2323 North Broadway, was selected on the twelfth ballot in a meeting last night of Republican precinct committee of the First Ward to be Republican candidate for Alderman from that ward at the November election, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Alderman William Godfrey. The meeting was held in a room in the rear of Koepfen's place, where First Ward precinct meetings usually are held.

Koepfen's name probably will be presented to the Republican City Committee tonight by Chairman George Strodtman, committeeman from the First Ward. The City Committee has the power to select the candidate, but usually accepts the choice of the precinct organization.

Koepfen was selected over Edward Kuhs, a real estate man, and Henry Maune, a clerk in the office of Comptroller Nolte. Koepfen only had a bare majority on the twelfth ballot, Maune being his closest rival. A vacancy also is to be filled in the Tenth Ward, in which Otto Hampe, nominated for Public Administrator on the Republican ticket, resigned as Alderman. City Committeeman George Meisinger of that ward is likely to be chosen, but the precinct organization has not yet acted.

BARRIE, SHAW AND GALSWORDTHY ARE KNOWN AS 'THAMES TRINITY'

Three Authors Live Near One Another in London District Called "The Adelphi."

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch. LONDON, Sept. 21.—A small district of London, between the Strand and the Thames, and from the Savoy Hotel to Charing Cross, called the Adelphi, probably is the most intensified literary center of this city. Within voice call of each other live Sir James Barrie, Bernard Shaw and John Galsworthy, who sometimes are called the "Thames Trinity." How close they are to each other is thus described by Barrie: "When I want to have a word with Shaw I throw things at his window and, having got his attention, we have our talk. If I want Galsworthy I slip down through a trap door into his kitchen."

COURT PERMITS SALE OF PART OF KEHR ESTATE

Probate Judge Holtcamp today entered an order permitting the sale of $80,450 worth of stocks and bonds, the personal property of the late Edward C. Kehr, an attorney, in order to pay State and Federal inheritance taxes. The order was entered on the petition of Miss Josephine E. Methudy, executrix, Kehr's niece and one of the principal heirs. Heirs of the estate are distant relatives, as Kehr was unmarried.

The State tax to be paid amounts to $19,178.28 and the Federal tax is $39,026.99. In addition to the taxes, other claims against the estate are to be settled with the proceeds of the sale. The value of the estate is about $500,000.

BOY, RUN OVER BY TRAIN, DIES

Earl Aichhorn, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Mabel Aichhorn, 8100 Vulcan street, who fell beneath the wheels of a moving freight train which he was trying to board in the Tesson street yards in Carondelet Saturday afternoon, died at 9:25 a. m. today at the City Hospital.

He had been playing in the yards with a number of companions. His left leg was severed at the hip and his right leg was badly crushed.

BE CAREFUL WHEN WASH YOUR HAIR

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is injurious, as it dries the hair, makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is coconut oil shampoo, for it is entirely greaseless, cheap and beats anything else. You can get Mulford's drug store, and a few ounces of the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair and rub it in, about a teaspoon all that is required. Its abundance of rich, cream cleanses thoroughly, and easily. The hair dries quickly, evenly, and is soft, fresh, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to comb. It loosens and every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff. Be sure your drug store has Mulford's.

MAN FOUND WADING IN RIVER

W. B. Gifford, Haberdasher, Sent to City Hospital.

William B. Gifford, 51 years old, of 4066 Shenandoah avenue, was taken to the observation ward of the city hospital at 8:15 this morning after policemen found him wading in the Mississippi River at the foot of Clark avenue in water up to his neck.

He told the police that he had been drinking for four days, but could not account for his presence in the river. He is married and owns a haberdashery.

Two Priests Return From Ireland. Two priests, the Rev. Father John Lyons, pastor of St. Pius' Church, and the Rev. Father J. J. Head, pastor of St. Columbkille's Church, have returned to St. Louis after visiting Ireland. Father Lyons also traveled in England and Scotland.

6-DAY SESSION OF CONGRESS AGAINST ALCOHOL OPENS

Speakers From 15 Foreign Countries at International Meeting; Dinwiddie Elected Chairman.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Edwin C. Dinwiddie, former legislative superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, was elected chairman of the fifteenth international congress against alcoholism which convened here today for a six days' session. He succeeds Joinker Charles Ruis de Beerenbrouck of The Hague, and becomes president of the international committee, which has charge of the organization's study of the scientific effects of alcohol.

E. H. Cherrington of Westerville, O., was chosen secretary of the congress and likewise of the international committee. Other members of the international committee include De Beerenbrouck, Dr. Robert T. Herrod, Lausanne, Switzerland; Dr. J. R. Sienmaker de Bruine, Utrecht, Holland, and Dr. John Gonzer of Berlin.

The opening session today was devoted largely to welcoming ceremonies. Van R. Merle-Smith, Third Assistant Secretary of State, welcomed the delegates for the American Government, and Dr. L. S. Rowe, Director-General of the Pan-American Union, welcomed them for the Pan-American Union. Responses were made by representatives from the various countries.

Placards Against Britain. As the congress was assembling women sympathizers with the provisional Irish republic picketed the Pan-American Union Building, bearing placards declaring that Great Britain was engaged in the opium traffic and that Americans were "exchanging the evil of alcohol for the greatest evil of opium."

Secretary Daniels also welcomed the delegates on behalf of the United States. In their responses the delegates from the foreign countries spoke of the work which they expected the congress to accomplish in the direction of eliminating or reducing the consumption of alcohol throughout the world.

Among the delegates was W. J. Bryan, whose arrival was delayed by a late train. Bryan's entry into the convention hall was the signal for prolonged cheering by the delegates, who greeted him in many different languages. Bryan later was called on for an address, but he said he was on the program to "indict alcohol," and he proposed to give "the attitude and longitude of the question" at that time.

STOLEN CARS WORTH $200,000 SHIPPED TO EUROPE; 6 ARRESTED. By the Associated Press. DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 21.—Charged with shipping more than $200,000 worth of automobiles, stolen in Detroit, through Eastern ports to Scandinavian countries, six Detroit persons, one of them a woman, have been arrested here and are being held by Federal authorities under the Dyer interstate automobile theft act, it was announced today.

Three men now serving a sentence in the State penitentiary at Jackson, following their arrest several months ago, are alleged to have stolen the cars on the streets here. The cars, it is said, were sent overland to Eastern ports by those now under arrest here, and shipped to Norway, Sweden and Denmark, where they were sold. Most of the cars are said to have been practically new.

The alleged conspiracy is said by Federal officers to be the largest found to exist since passage of the Dyer act.

PETROLEUM DISCUSSED AT MEETING OF OIL MEN HERE

Today's program includes discussion of the Russian oil fields, by A. Beeby Thompson of London, and of oil well conservation in relation to rising oil prices by W. W. Cutler Jr. of Chevy Chase, Md. The afternoon will be devoted to the reading of papers on the oil industry on the Gulf coast, in Trinidad and Brazil.

Tomorrow morning H. A. Baehner of Tulsa, Okla., will speak on "The Oil Possibilities of Missouri." Oil resources of Alabama and Illinois also will be discussed.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF FARMER CAPTURED IN CANADIAN WOODS

By the Associated Press. SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 21.—After six days of hiding in the Canadian woods, Douglas Mower, wanted in connection with the shooting to death of George Elliott, farmer and brick manufacturer, is in jail here today with his sweetheart, Maggie Brock, and his sister, Pearl, who had gone into hiding with him.

Mower is alleged to have shot Elliott as the latter was holding Maggie Brock in his arms after Elliott had found the girl, dressed in men's clothing, in his farm yard at night.

Mower then entered the woods with his sweetheart and sister. He was arrested by Canadian police yesterday 40 miles from the American border.

The girls are charged with being Mower's accomplices.

W. W. Davis Dies in New York. Word was received here today of the death of William W. Davis, formerly head of the St. Louis firm of Davis & Chamberlain, which executed many of the decorations at Union Station. Davis died Saturday at the Majestic Hotel, New York, where he had lived since his retirement. He was 70 years old. Several years ago, following the death of his partner, Davis incorporated his business into the W. W. Davis Decorating Co., and handed it over to his employees.

JUDGE LETS PLAYER ROLL DICE TO GET OUT; SEVEN COMES UP

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Thirsty Smitty, dice player, trapped in the meshes of the law, had a sporting proposition put up to him yesterday by Judge Stewart in the Chicago Avenue Police Court. Thirsty, with six other negroes, was caught with the dice on him in a raid on a pool room.

"You rolled yourself into a nice mess, Thirsty," said Judge Stewart. "Now, let's see if you can roll yourself out again. Think you've got those ivories trained?"

"Sho-has, Mister Boss Man," grinned Thirsty, gathering up the galloppers. He threw the dice. An eight appeared.

"Come on, yo' babies," he intoned; "come on, you babies—30 days."

A nine popped out. Thirsty pleaded with the dice, but "Little Joe" appeared.

"Eighter from Decatur," murmured Thirsty, as he made the third throw, but he was talking to a stranger. Eighter from Decatur was not at home. Instead—

"Read 'em and weep," said Judge Stewart. It was the fatal seven.

"You lose," he continued. "Dollar and costs for each of you."

She was placed in the observation ward. Her mother, Mrs. Sarah Shintag, said she had been "acting queerly," and had spells of melancholy.

AIR MAIL DIVISION HERE LIKELY TO GET HIGHEST RATING

Classification Will Give St.
Louis-Chicago Fliers 'Class
C' Mark and 10 Per Cent Bonus.

The record of the St. Louis-Chicago division of the air mail service has been such that, unless a serious delay or an accident occurs before the end of this month, the division will be rated as "Class C," the highest efficiency rating in the service, which entitles all employees to a 10 per cent bonus on all salary due from Aug. 15, when the first flights were made between St. Louis and Chicago.

A total of approximately 10,690 pounds of first class mail has been carried by airplane between the two cities. The average flying time for the 270 miles is three hours and 40 minutes, or an elapsed time of three hours and 55 minutes, allowing for the stop at Rantoul, Ill., for gasoline and oil. The fastest railroad time is seven hours and 40 minutes. Local Average Now 94 Per Cent.

The efficiency rating is determined by the percentage of trips made without damage to mail or plane, those made with a certain speed for the type of plane, and those made when the mail leaves within 15 minutes of the starting time. Divisions averaging 90 per cent under the four descriptions are in Class C, and those averaging 85 per cent are in Class B. Employees of divisions in Class B receive a 5 per cent bonus. Class A is the basic class, with no extra efficiency rating. All divisions are reclassified every three months. The St. Louis-Chicago division now has an average of 94 per cent.

The only damage to a plane in this division occurred Aug. 25, when Pilot Russell G. Jones, making the trip to Chicago, was forced to land on a plowed field near Worden, Ill., and a propeller was broken in landing. The mail was sent on by train. On another occasion an airplane was unable to complete the trip. Ralph A. Reed left for Chicago in a heavy rain on Sept. 8, and was forced to land at Taylor Springs, near Hillsboro, Ill., on account of water short-circuiting his motor, and the field became so muddy that another plane could not land there to take the mail on to Chicago.

Forced Landings on Three Trips.
Forced landings were made on three other trips. On Aug. 19 Earl F. Baskey, coming from Chicago, landed at Litchfield, Ill., to repair a broken drift wire, and arrived here 53 minutes late, but in time for the afternoon delivery. L. H. Garrison landed at Decatur, Ill., with a broken drift wire on the way to St. Louis, Sept. 9, and came in 3 hours and 10 minutes late. On Sept. 11 Pilot Baskey was delayed for more than two hours at Worden, where he was forced to land for oil and gasoline, and again had to land at Nameoki, Ill., on account of the poor quality of the oil he got at Worden. Pilot Jones took a plane from the Forest Park field to Nameoki and brought the mail in 6 hours and 29 minutes late.

The mail planes never have been late in departing in the morning, and the ruling as to speed percentage, according to William G. Witzell, manager of the St. Louis field, will not apply to this division, as the speed for the Curtiss JN-4-H used here is not specified in the order. This plane has a Hispano-Suiz 150 horsepower motor, capable of developing 1550 revolutions a minute, or a speed of 75 to 80 miles an hour.

With a favorable wind a considerable higher speed may be attained. 2 Hours, 57 Minutes Record Time.
The record for the flight to Chicago is claimed by Jones, who has twice made the flight in 2 hours and 57 minutes flying time, at an average speed of 91½ miles an hour. Baskey has the record to St. Louis with a flying time of 3 hours and 2 minutes, or 89 miles an hour. Six new motors have been received at the St. Louis field. Two of them have been installed, one in plane No. 12, which was the first plane to fly in the United States air mail service. The hangar is fully equipped with every mechanical necessity, including two motor trucks and two motorcycles.

Searchlight for Night Landing.
A searchlight, capable of throwing a ray 2000 feet, has been installed at the top of the hangar, to aid in night landing, and a smaller flood-

light has been ordered as an auxiliary.
A direct telegraph service to Chicago over leased wire soon will be installed at the Forest Park field. This virtually will be direct service to Washington, as a connection will be made at Chicago with the leased wire to Washington.

Two pilots, Baskey and Jones, make their headquarters here. H. C. Brown and Ralph A. Reed are stationed at Chicago. L. H. Garrison made one flight when Reed was sick. Brown took the place of E. H. Lee at Chicago when the latter got a leave of absence to gather crops on his farm in South Dakota. All of them are former members of the Air Service.

A wooden bed has no place in the modern sanitary household. The longer it has been in the family, the worse for the person who sleeps in it.

And in the interests of sleep, the ordinary iron bed is no better. Its creak and rattle a strain on the nerves. Its crude design an offence to the eye.

TRUST COMPANY NAMED TO LIQUIDATE AFFAIRS OF TRUST COMPANY

A. Busch to Sue All Who Fail to Settle Debts to Jefferson-

William A. Busch of the firm of William A. Busch & Co., investment bankers, has been appointed by the State Banking Commissioner as special deputy in charge of liquidating
the affairs of the Jefferson-Gravois institution. The assets of which were taken over by the State Commissioner. The trust company has been out of business since February, 1919, when its business was absorbed by the Jefferson-Gravois Bank, which is a solvent and going concern.

Aug. 25 George J. Breaker, a stockholder, asked the Circuit Court to appoint a receiver for the trust company assets, but a temporary writ from the Supreme Court stopped further proceedings in the matter and left the State Banking Commissioner in charge. Deputy Busch announced yesterday that he is planning to file suit against everyone who is indebted to the trust company unless immediate settlement is had.

One claim, he said, is against Breaker, the petitioner for a receiver, on a note for $8000. Breaker was a director of the trust company. Busch was its secretary and treasurer and his appointment of deputy was made at the request of stockholders of the corporation. Busch said he also had claims against T. F. Sexton for $6000 and A. P. Mackley for $5000, both of whom intervened as plaintiffs in the receivership suit. Sexton was vice president of the trust company.

Ruthenian Greek Catholic Church, Hickory and Dolman streets, has been discharged by members of his congregation, following a series of disagreements, and officials of the church say that they expect to have the electricity and gas service cut off from the parsonage, 1120 Dolman street, if the pastor does not leave soon. The priest's salary of $100 a month was stopped Sept. 15, they say.

In a newspaper notice printed Sunday it was announced that the congregation would not be responsible for debts contracted by the priest since last Friday. The notice was signed by a committee, Steve Ma-kara and John Yokimow.

Makara, a grocer at Third and Rutger streets, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that a meeting was held Sept.
12, attended by about 45 members, when it was decided to discharge the priest.

Father Kopychak, in broken English, said he did not know he had been ousted, and voiced his intention to remain. He said there was a "Bolshevik element" that disliked him. The church is not connected with the Orthodox Greek Church.
One of its officials is said to be coming here from Newark, N. J., to investigate the affair.

The man who thinks he can't shave with a Safety Razor

The man who excuses his use of an old-fashioned razor on the ground that he has a tender skin and wiry beard, often tells this to a safety razor user who has a much more difficult face to shave

ONE of the most surprising reversals of opinion ever known in the history of shaving has suddenly come about.

In the past four months—since the introduction of the new Gillette razor, the BIG FELLOW—more men have given up the old-fashioned way of shaving for the Gillette habit than in any similar period of time heretofore.

Many of them, men who had always looked upon the safety

feature of the Gillette as its only advantage and one that they did not require of a razor.

There was something about the Big Fellow, the Gillette with the longer handle and heavier head, that appealed to them the instant they saw its size and felt its weight and balance.

And the men who used to think they couldn't shave with a safety razor are making the Gillette Big Fellow their particular razor—and the fastest selling razor that has ever been placed on the market.

We Never Shut Down

Livestock keeps coming to market and we have to keep buying it and putting it through our plants whether conditions are good or poor.

Swift & Company has no control over the quantity of live stock shipped to market. Live-stock producers ship their animals to the big stock-yards markets, wherethey are sold through commission men who represent the shippers.

The result is that the live-stock
supply fluctuates from week to week.
We have to buy the animals, however many or few there are; and they have to be handled without delay.

We cannot hold dressed beef, lamb, mutton, veal, fresh pork, or any other fresh perishable meats, but have to sell them at the prevailing market prices within a few days. If we try to sell at half a cent under the prevailing prices, retailers would naturally buy from us as long as our supply lasted, and that supply would be used up very quickly. On the other hand, if we try to sell for half a cent higher than the market prices,
the retailers, who shop around, would buy from our competitors and we would have our fresh meat left on our hands. We have to sell our products every day at prevailing market prices whatever those prices may be.

Half a cent up or down in the wholesale price means the difference between profit and loss to us.

How often you have wished that you could indulge in the stren-

tired, listless and lack a vigorous walk or a round of the links—or any other exercise that requires much physical exer-

his middle forties, has a vague feeling that he is "getting old"—and right at a time when he should be at his very best physically.

Thousands—yes millions—of people find themselves in this condition early in life. And there is no excuse for it. You can check that tendency to grow old. You can carry your youth with its joys and enthusiasm into your 70's and 80's. But you must give Nature all the help you can. The best assistance you can find—assur-

CITY DEMOCRATS WANT REHEARING IN NEALE CASE

Committee Asks That Byrne O'Neill and Hogan Be Given Opportunity to Defend Themselves.

ELEVENTH DISTRICT
MEN TO FIGHT OUSTER

Friends of State Commit-men Byrne and O'Neill Say They Will Carry Matter to Courts.

Reopening of the investigation of the assault upon Ben M. Neale, former chairman of the Democratic State Committee in Jefferson City,
Sept. 14, to permit Constable John F. Byrne and Frank O'Neill, members of the State Committee from the Eleventh District, and Edward
J. Hogan Jr., Deputy State Beverage
Inspector, to appear and make a defense, is requested of the State Committee in a resolution adopted yesterday afternoon by the Democratic City Committee, of which Byrne and O'Neill also are members.

Members of a subcommittee of the State Committee, comprising State Senator Mike Kinney of St. Louis, chairman; W. R. Taylor of Fulton and F. T. Crowley of Lawson, after hearing here last Friday, at which they said they were unable to obtain attendance of either O'Neill, Byrne or Hogan, adopted a written report in which they charged Byrne and Hogan with participating in the assault and O'Neill with standing by without interfering. The report called upon Gov. Gardner to discharge Hogan and upon the State Committee to compel the expulsion of Byrne and O'Neill from the committee.

Two Deny Assault.
Byrne and O'Neill deny it to members of the City Committee, which met in Democratic city headquarters, Pontiac Building, that they had any connection with the assault, in which Neale was knocked down and brutally beaten on the State Capitol steps.

Justice Jimmy Miles, city committeeman from the Fourth Ward, in whose court Byrne is a Constable, presented the resolution asking for a reopening of the investigation, to the City Committee. It was adopted unanimously after Byrne had said that his duties as Constable prevented him from attending the investigation last week and O'Neill had made a similar statement as to the duties of his office as business agent for the bricklayers' union.

Miles, Committeeman Lawrence
C. Kingsland of the Twenty-eighth Ward and Committeeman James W.
Griffin of the Twenty-third Ward were appointed to frame the resolution and present it to Chairman Yancey of the State Committee.

Friends of Byrne and O'Neill said that they not only will make a defense, but that they will refuse to resign from the committee and will fight to the finish if necessary.

Cause of the Assault.
The assault upon Neale is said to have been due to resentment of St.
Louis politicians over his activity in urging that mass meetings be held there to elect members of a new women's Democratic State committee, which interfered with plans of the Democratic City Committee to have a women's committee dominated by it.

Neale is chairman of a subcommittee of the State Committee to call those meetings. A conference of the Neale Committee set for today has been postponed.

A resolution adopted by the Democratic League, members of which have led in the fight to have a women's committee whose members are elected rather than appointed by committees, and mailed to Neale yesterday, urged that his committee select the temporary chairman, name the halls, order men excluded and provide that only women registered in the wards interested may vote in the mass meetings.

URSULA BRODERICK SEEKS TO APPEAL AS A POOR PERSON

Says Relatives of Stepfather and Father, Whom She Killed, Keep Her From Getting Work.

Ursula Broderick, who was sentenced recently to 10 years in the penitentiary for killing her stepfather, Joseph Woodlock, petitioned in Juvenile Court today that her appeal from her conviction to the Supreme Court be declared the appeal of a poor person. An appeal to the Supreme Court usually costs between $400 and $500. The State pays the costs for persons declared unable to do so.

Ursula said that since her conviction she has been unable to keep steady employment because relatives of her stepfather and of her father, whom she killed previously, followed her about identifying her to her employers and causing her discharge. She declared that she was dependent upon her mother for support. Her mother, Mrs. Lillian Woodlock, with whom she lives at 820 North Taylor avenue, corroborated her daughter's statement. The petition was taken under advisement.

THE UNDENIABLE CHARM OF BEAUTY

And How to Attain It.

Youth of the complexion, a clear, soft,
delicately tinted skin in every day appearance is the undeniable charm of beauty.
To be attractive, to be admired, is the secret desire of every woman, but few know how to attain this accomplishment.
First, it is very necessary to remove all blemishes—tan, sun freckles, dark, yellow blotches, liver spots and discolored skin. To do this, use the "Black and White" skin cream.
No other preparations on the market will so quickly and so effectively make the skin clear, soft and youthful as "Black and White" Gintment.
No tedious hours of application are required, no long hours of absorption at beauty parlors—just a massage of the creamy ointment, before retiring, then rinsed off next morning with Black and White Soap.
After the use of these two excellent toilet preparations the skin will be smooth, clear and beautiful in every way.
All druggists and department stores sell and guarantee "Black and White" Gintment.
The packages of this size contain three times as much "Black and White" Soap as a cake.

Fat Folks Read This Story

Recently, in the city of Chicago, a prominent man, burdened with excessive fat, went upon the operating table and had over sixty pounds of flesh carved from his back, shoulders and body.
Years ago the formula for fat reduction was "diet"—exercise.
Today it is "Take Marmora Prescription Tablets." Friends tell friends—doctors tell their patients, until thousands know and use this convenient, harmless method.
They eat what they like, live as they like, and still lose their excess three or four pounds of fat a week.
Simple, effective, harmless Mar-

by all druggists—a good size box for one dollar. Or if you wish you may write direct to the Mar-

"Dependents," Who Live Near London, Always Wear Black—Picture and Flowers Taboo.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch LONDON, Sept. 21.—If you have met a person dressed in plain black who cries at weddings and laughs at funerals the chances are he or she is a Dependent.

What's a Dependent? A Dependent is a person dressed in plain black and of solemn mien. There are 1000 of them living less than 50 miles from London.

John Sirgood, a London shoemaker, began to give religious talks in Loxwood, Sussex, in 1850 and from these sermons grew the Society of Dependents.

WITH INDIANS PACIFIED, SONORA IS DEVELOPING

Government of Mexican State Now Turning Attention to Irrigation.

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 21.—Recent pacification of the warlike Yaqui Indians of the Mexican state of Sonora has allowed the tasks of developing irrigation projects and providing homes and crops, Gov. Flavio A. Berquez of Sonora recently told the Associated Press.

"Pacifying the Yaqui Indians solves the greatest problem Sonora has had to meet," he said. "These Indians have been a thorn in the side of the Sonora and the Mexican governments for 88 years. The trouble dates back to the old Spanish days, when the land which the Indians rightfully claimed was taken from them."

"We have finally succeeded in satisfying them by restoring the lands to them and providing them with food, clothing and materials for farming. This was accomplished through the efforts of President De La Huerta, Secretary of War Calles and myself."

"Yaqui chiefs recently conferred with me here and assured me that the Indians are completely pacified and ready to settle down and grow crops on reservation lands we have provided for them. The Government has set aside between 20,000 and 30,000 acres of the finest land in the famous Yaqui Valley for their use as a reservation."

"Many of the ancient irrigation ditches have been rebuilt by the Government, so the Indians can have water. New ditches have been opened and more will be built with federal and state funds. Eventually we hope to irrigate more than 1,000,000 acres of land. The project will cost not less than $10,000,000, and will require three or four years to complete. The first step in the work will be construction of a great dam to hold the waters of the Sonora River. Long-term loans are expected to finance the plan."

"Irrigation Brings Riches. "Irrigation is the basis of Sonora's welfare. Water only is needed to reclaim vast areas of land which is as rich as the Nile bottoms and as good as, and even better than, the famous Imperial Valley."

"Schools are as vital to the welfare of Sonora as water, and we are making extensive plans for school extension. Included in our new budget is $2,500,000 for schools."

"The new era has dawned in Mexico, and especially in Sonora. The government of the state is on a business basis, and we will welcome the world to the state to help us in our rebuilding."

SCIENTIST SEARCHES FOR SPAWNING GROUNDS OF EEL

Search Being Made in the Atlantic Ocean, West of Azores Islands.

CARDIFF, Wales, Sept. 21.—Dr. Johannes Schmidt, a Danish scientist, is searching the Atlantic between the Azores and the West Indies for spawning fresh water eels, which the eye of man has never seen. This announcement was made by Dr. W. A. Herdman, professor of oceanography at Liverpool University, in his presidential address before the annual conference of the British Association.

"All the eels of the streams and lakes of northwestern Europe," Dr. Herdman said, "live and feed and grow under our eyes without reproducing their kind—no spawning eel has ever been seen. After living for years in immaturity, at least near the end of their lives, the large male and female yellow eels undergo a change in appearance and in nature. They acquire a silvery color and their eyes enlarge, and in this bridal attire they commence the long journey which ends in maturity, reproduction and death."

"They migrate in the autumn to the coast, from the inshore seas to the open ocean and still westward and south to the mid-Atlantic, and we know not how much farther, for the exact locality and manner of spawning have still to be discovered. The youngest known stages of the Leptocephalus, the larval stage of eels, have been found by Dr. Schmidt to the west of the Azores, where the water is over 2000 fathoms in depth. These were about one-third on an inch in length and were probably not long hatched. Now Dr. Schmidt is traversing the Atlantic in the hope of finding the missing link in the chain, the actual spawning fresh water eel, in the intermediate waters somewhere above the abysses of the open ocean."

Anniversary Sale Offer Extraordinary!

Pennsylvania VACUUM CUP CORD TIRES

at 1/2 Price

All Brand-New Tires—

Guaranteed for 6000 Miles

We made a special purchase of the well-known Pennsylvania Vacuum Cup and Channel Tread Cord Tires, and are giving our customers the full benefit of this advantageous transaction.

These are Tires of sturdy construction and generous oversize, and the guaranteed non-skid vacuum cup tread has made them the choice of many motorists who understand Tire values.

The Pennsylvania Rubber Company has slightly changed its method of manufacture, but, as slight as this change will be, they decided to close out their entire stock of Tires now on hand. We bought a large quantity. This is why we are able to offer these Tires at exactly half the regular prices.

Pennsylvania Vacuum Cup Cord Tires are used in many cities by fire departments and other motor vehicles that require sturdily constructed and sound Tires. The opportunity to buy them for the price that is usually paid for unknown makes of fabric Tires is one that will be quickly taken advantage of by the discriminating motorists.

We believe the selling prices quoted below are unprecedented for this renowned make of Tires. They are all perfect, all brand-new, and carry the manufacturer's guarantee of 6,000 miles. Quantities limited.

HARDING SEES SEEDS OF WAR IN ARTICLE 10

Tells G. A. R. Veterans Covenant Contains Ambiguities Like Those in 1861-65 Conflict.

By the Associated Press.
MAHON, O., Sept. 21.—Warning that the League of Nations is full of "known ambiguities" and that it was an ambiguity in our own constitution that led to the Civil War, Senator Harding yesterday asked a delegation of Civil War veterans and a delegation of Kentucky and Tennessee citizens "how we ever can consent to enter into a new world compact with a dozen ambiguities in it."

The Senator asserted that Article 10 of the League of Nations is a "reciprocal pledge on our part to help preserve the independence and national integrity of 44 nations" and that the article and its corollaries "clearly contemplate war if need be to make this preservation possible." Asserting that President Wilson had placed the "purport of an obsolete Clayton-Bulwer treaty" above our constitutional rights, in requiring tolls from American vessels passing through the Panama Canal, Senator Harding exclaimed: "Who cares to say that this same sort of logic will not some day be used to plague an unwilling America into foreign war if we unreservedly subscribe to Article 10, the Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding."

The Kentucky and Tennessee delegation came today instead of tomorrow and the presidential candidate addressed them along with the delegation of G. A. R. veterans who had stopped on their way to the national encampment at Indianapolis. No Great Differences. Senator Harding said, in part: "I like to think of the blend of Kentucky and Tennessee with the sons of the North who saved the nation. I like to think that in this year, 1920, there are few wounds of the Civil War remaining, there are few signs of sectionalism in our national life, and there is no one who regrets the winning of the war by the North and the preservation of this wonderful land of ours."

"I like to recall that, after all, there were no very great differences between us. You know there were two schools of American politics from the very beginning. One was the national school and the other was the school of states' rights. They waged their warfare with never-ending intensity until it finally culminated in the great Civil war, and in that conflict the United States was committed everlastingly to nationality."

"Have you ever stopped to think that one people with naturally one interest were led into the Civil war by a mere ambiguity in the federal constitution? In the beginning we were so divided in our ideas that there was of necessity uncertainty left in the compact that was made, and it required the Civil war to wipe it out. Knowing the cost of wiping out the ambiguity in the constitution, how can we consent to enter into a new world compact with a dozen ambiguities in it?"

Documents Are Opposed. "Let me call your particular attention to one: There is much dispute about that which is known as the 'heart of the league.' No American can be simultaneously for article 10 and for the constitution of our republic any more than an American in Lincoln's time could be simultaneously for emancipation and for slavery."

"Let me say right here that I am a fairly sympathetic human being and I wouldn't break the heart of anybody knowingly, but I would rather break the heart of the world than destroy the soul of the United States of America."

"Article 10 is a reciprocal pledge on our part to help preserve the independence and territorial integrity of 44 nations, if all who are invited to join the league do so. Article 10 and its corollaries clearly contemplate war, if need be, to make this preservation possible. In case of such war, it is official testimony, in the words of the President himself, that America is under an absolute compelling moral obligation to go in. Mark well those ominous words. Yet the constitution makes Congress absolutely sovereign over America's decision as to war. What is the result? The covenant and the constitution clash."

"I wonder if your sons and grandsons helped to win the world war for such purposes as this? Once when Congress sought to allow American ships to pass through the Panama Canal, built by American genius, with American money, to further American commerce and add to American defense, and when we built that canal with the understanding that American ships were to pass through free of tolls, the same President who brought us the league, begged Congress and his own partisans to ignore our constitutional rights to do as we chose with our own ships, in our own canal. And the moral obligation won. "What I like to say to you who know so much of sacrifice and hardship, we do not need any council of foreign powers to tell us how to play our part."

FINE IS DOUBLED IN DOG-BITE CASE APPEAL

New Trial Asked for After Jury Assesses $50 Fine for Maintaining Animal in Apartment.

Raymond Stahlberg of 6047 Pershing avenue, a manufacturing agent, was fined $50 by a jury in the Court of Criminal Correction last night, for maintaining a vicious dog, a Boston terrier, which on May 23 last attacked and bit John E. Reinhardt Jr., 9 years old, of 5328 Forsyth avenue, as the boy took the Pasteur treatment, and suffered severely from this treatment, and from fright and nervousness.

Stahlberg was fined $25 in police court by Judge Littner, who also ordered the dog killed. His appeal to the Court of Criminal Correction resulted in doubling his fine, but has prevented the killing of the dog, which is now in the care of a North St. Louis dog fancier. After the jury's verdict, Stahlberg filed a motion with Judge Krueger for a new trial.

Among a considerable number of witnesses on both sides, the testimony of Mrs. Edward F. Sollard, living in the same apartment house as Stahlberg, and of J. J. Killoren, agent for the property, appeared to have particular weight with the jury. Mrs. Sollard testified that the Stahlberg dog entered her apartment and snarled at her baby, who was playing on the floor. She said she complained to Killoren, as agent. Killoren testified that he told Stahlberg that the keeping of the dog was not permitted by his lease, and that Stahlberg replied, "We'll get rid of our dog if you will get rid of those baby carriages in the hall. Our dog is no more of a nuisance than the crying of those babies."

Mr. and Mrs. Stahlberg denied that their dog snarled at the Sollard baby. Stahlberg's remarks about babies were not denied. John M. Nichols of 6054 Pershing avenue, and G. A. Schreiber of 311 Rosedale avenue, testified that the Stahlberg dog had attacked their smaller dogs without provocation, and Nichols said he was bitten by the Stahlberg dog when he attempted to rescue his dog.

Stahlberg's defense was chiefly the testimony of persons who had not been bitten by his dog. City Marshal Mohrstadt, whose action in releasing the animal after the appeal caused complaint from the Reinhardt family, testified. He said he released the dog after the owner represented it was worth $500, and threatened suit.

The new Troco plant, just completed, represents the best in scientific modern construction. It provides elaborate laboratory equipment and ultra-modern machinery. It was built solely for the production of de luxe margarine.

Famous Butter Expert Perfects Troco

New building, model of efficiency in margarine production

A. E. Hoffman is the man. He brings a lifetime of experience and a national reputation into this new field. For over 30 years he has made butter, judged butter and taught butter making and milk culture at leading dairy schools. He is called upon wherever dairy associations meet. Mr. Hoffman directs the details which now make Troco superior.

For this purpose, and with his counsel, we have built the most modern, up-to-date plant in the country designed exclusively for the manufacture of margarine. Built of concrete and white tile, it is provided with elaborate laboratory equipment and sanitary conditions which give full scope to his ability. In this ideal surrounding Mr. Hoffman produces perfected Troco, a fancy Troco which will delight with its sweetness and delicacy.

Troco is churned like butter, with pure, whole-ome coconut fat replacing butter fat.

It gets its flavor from the same culture which flavors butter. Mr. Hoffman produces this culture in the Troco laboratory. It is the same which won his reputation in the butter world.

White meat of the coconut
—pure, pasteurized milk

The basis of Troco is pure, tasteless, odorless coconut fat, derived from the white meat of coconuts.

This rich nut fat is very nutritious.

THIS YEAR'S WAY

In years gone by bottled milk and cream were used by everybody. But the up-to-date way is Nestlé's Every Day. It is making bottled milk old-fashioned because it's so convenient, so economical, so much richer than bottled milk, and so safe and reliably pure because it's sterilized. Up-to-date people use Every Day Milk for cooking, baking, in coffee, on cereals and for all milk and cream purposes. Your grocer knows.

Many tropical races live and thrive on coconuts, their principal food.

Then this snowy neutral fat is churned with pasteurized milk—cultured to produce the famous flavor of perfected Troco.

We have personal knowledge of the herds which supply the Troco plant. This is a most important factor in achieving the standardizing of Troco flavor.

Standardized perfection

Every pound of Troco is guaranteed perfect in flavor and freshness when it leaves the Troco plant. If a pound reaches you in imperfect condition, we want to know it and remove the cause.

Because we intend to protect the reputation of Troco from the carelessness of handlers, we make this offer to users:

If ever you get a carton of Troco which isn't absolutely right, let us know and we will replace it.

But don't expect cut prices

Troco is the fancy grade of nut margarine. So like fancy butter it naturally commands a premium.

We will maintain this standard under all conditions and therefore Troco may at times cost a few cents more per pound.

Your dealer keeps Troco or will order it for you. Ask him—and don't accept any other brand.

NOTICE

Regarding Mr. Hoffman's services. Up to the time of his recent connection with the Troco Company, Mr. Hoffman's advice and counsel was greatly in demand by Agricultural Colleges, Dairy Schools and associations, educational organizations, women's clubs, etc. We wish him to continue this good work and his services will be available for this purpose, with the hearty co-operation of this company.

Gasoline to Help Lower Food Prices

"Of all the motor vehicles in use in the Middle West, 65% of the total registration are farmer-owned" (Arthur Capper Address, 1920). Gasoline is taking the place of vanishing man-power on the farms; and not only does it reduce the man-hours required to produce a given amount of food, but it also reduces the actual cost of production, and this despite the advancing price of gasoline. (H. W. Quaintance "Influence of Farm Machinery on Production," Power Wagon Reference Book, 1920, page 561.)

Authorities agree that gasoline is a most important factor in the production and distribution of food products.

When gasoline is employed universally to increase the efficiency of man-power on the farm, we may look for vastly increased production and a consequent decrease in the cost of producing food.

In the eleven Middle West states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) more than 100,000 tractors are in use, and the number is increasing rapidly.

In the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) the number of farmer-owned motor trucks is as follows:

Kansas	1,732
Iowa	2,773
Illinois	2,261
Indiana	1,548
North Dakota	501
South Dakota	1,708
Michigan	1,636
Minnesota	1,255
Missouri	2,065
Wisconsin	1,465
Oklahoma	723
Total	17,667

(U. S. Department of Agriculture states that only about 75% of total farmer ownership was reported.)

The distribution service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) brings petroleum products quickly and cheaply to the farm when they are most needed.

It is the plan of this Company to make its distribution facilities the most perfect system of its kind in the world. To do this, largely increased equipment is being installed. To supply this vast network of stations, trucks, tank wagons, etc., the Manufacturing Department is bending its energies to devise means for producing an ever increasing percentage of gasoline from the crude oil obtainable, and at the same time to keep users of other products of petroleum supplied with their needs.

BUSINESS of BLUSHING

By DANA GATLIN.

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

MISSY, who knew her mother well, couldn't help feeling a deep degree of sympathy; besides, she wished the Rev. Mr. Magill might have had his pie—she liked the Rev. Mr. Magill better than ever. But she dreaded her first moment after the guest had departed; mother could be terribly stern.

Nor did her fears prove groundless. "Now, Missy," ordered her mother in coldly frate tones, "you take that horse straight back to Tess. This is the last straw! For days you've been no earthly use—your practicing neglected, no time for your chores, just nothing but that everlasting horse!"

That everlasting horse! Missy's chin quivered and her eyes filled. But mother went on inflexibly: "I don't want you ever to bring it here again. And you can't go on living at Tess's, either. We'll see that you catch up with your practicing."

"But, mother," tremulously seeking for an argument, "I oughtn't to give up such a fine chance to become a horsewoman, ought I?"

It was an unlikely phrase, for Aunt Nettie was there to catch it up.

"A horsewoman!" and she laughed in sardonic gloom. "Well, I must admit there's one thing horse enough about you—you always smell of manure these days."

Wounded and on the defensive, Missy tried to make her tone chilly. "I wish you wouldn't be so indecate, Aunt Nettie," she said.

But Aunt Nettie wasn't abashed. "A horsewoman!" she chorused again. "I suppose Missy goes herself riding to hounds! All dressed up in a stiff hat and riding breeches like pictures of society people back East!"

It didn't add to Missy's composure to know that she had, in truth, harbored this ridiculous vision of herself. She colored and stood hesitant.

"Someone ought to put pants on that O'Neill girl, anyway," continued Aunt Nettie, with what seemed to her niece unparalleled malice. "Helen Allison says the doctor saw her out in the country riding a straddle. Her mother ought to spank her."

Mother looked at Missy sharply. "Don't let me hear of you doing anything like that!"

Missy hung her head, but luckily mother took it for just a general attitude of dejection. I can't tolerate tomboys," she went on. "I can't imagine what's come over you lately."

"It's that O'Neill girl," said Aunt Nettie.

Mother sighed. Missy couldn't know she was lamenting the loss of her sweet, shy, old-fashioned little girl. But when she spoke next her accents were firm.

"Now, you go and take that horse home. But come straight back and get to bed, so you can get an early start at your practicing in the morning. Right here I'm going to put my foot down. It isn't because I want to be harsh—but you never seem to know when to stop a thing. It's all well and good to be fond of dumb animals, but when it comes to a point where you can think of nothing else—"

The outstanding import of the terrific and unjust trade was that Missy should not go near the sanitarium or the pony for a week.

When mother "put her foot down" like that, hope was gone, indeed. And a whole week! That is a long, long time when hope is deferred—especially when one is 15 and all days are long. At first Missy didn't see how she was ever to live through the endless period, but, strangely enough, the dragging days brought to her a change of mood. It is odd how the color of our mood, so to speak, can utterly change; how one day we can desire one kind of thing acutely, and then, the very next day, crave something quite different.

One morning Missy awoke to a dawn of mildest sifted light and bediamonded dew on the grass; soft plumes of silver, through the mist, seemed to trim the vines of the summer house and made her catch her breath in ecstasy. All of a sudden she wanted nothing so much as to get a book and steal off alone somewhere. The right kind of a book, of course—something sort of strange and sad that would make you strange, sad feelings mount up and up inside you till you could almost die of your beautiful sorrow.

As soon as her routine of duties was finished she gained permission to go to the library. As she walked slowly, musingly down Maple avenue, her emotions were follow ground for every touch of nature; the sleek greensward of all the lawns, glistering under the torrid azure of the great, gloched sky, made walking along the shady sidewalk inexpressibly sweet; the many-hued flowers in all the flower beds seemed to sing out their vying colors; the strong, hard wind passed almost visible fingers through the thick, rustling mane of the trees. Oh, she hoped she would find the right kind of book!

Mother, back on the porch, looked up from her sewing to watch the disappearing figure, and smiled.

"We have our little girl back again," she observed to Aunt Nettie.

"I wish that O'Neill girl move away," Aunt Nettie said. "Missy's a regular chameleon."

It's a pity Missy couldn't hear her new classification; it would have interested her tremendously; she was always interested in the perplexing vagaries of her own nature. However, at the library she was quite happy; for she found two books, each the "right" kind, though different. One was called "Famous Heroines of Medieval Legend." They all had names of strange beauty and splendor—Guinevere, Elaine, Vivien—names which softly rustled in syllables of blissful brocade.

The other book was less satisfying. It was a book of poems—wonderful poems, by a man named Swinburne—lifting, haunting things of beauty which washed through her soul like the waves of a sun-bejeweled sea. She read the choicest verses over and over till she knew them by heart.

Before the beginning of years, there came to the making of man

The verses brought her beautiful, stirring thoughts to weave into verses of her own when

fully. She knew it was a success, both because of her exalted feelings and because Poppy meowed out in discordant disapproval only once; the rest of the time Poppy purred as appreciatively as for "The Maiden's Prayer!" Dear Poppy! Missy felt suddenly contrite for her defection from faithful Poppy. And Poppy was getting old—Aunt Nettie said she'd already lived much longer than most cats. She might die soon. Through a swift blur of tears Missy looked out toward the summer house, where, beneath the ramblers, she decided Poppy should be buried. Poor Poppy! The tears came so fast she couldn't wipe them away. She didn't dream that Swinburne was primarily responsible for those tears.

Yet even her sadness held a strange, poignant element of bliss. It struck her, oddly, that she was almost enjoying her week of punishment—that she was enjoying it. Why was she enjoying it, since when mother first banned athletic pursuits, she had felt like a martyr? It was queer. She pondered the mysterious complexity of her nature.

There passed two more days of this inexplicable content. Then came the thunderstorm. It was, perhaps, the thunderstorm that really does serve the blame for Missy's climactic athletic catastrophe. No lightning bolt struck, yet that thunderstorm indubitably played its part in Missy's athletic destiny. It was the causation of renewed turmoil after time of peace.

Tess had telephoned that morning and asked Missy to accompany her to the library. But Missy had to practice. In her heart she didn't really care to go, for, after her stint was finished, she was contemplating some new improvisings. However, the morning didn't go well. It was close and sultry, and though she tried to make her fingers march and trot and gallop as the "exercises" dictated, something in the oppressive air set her nerves to tingling. Besides, it grew so dark she couldn't see the notes distinctly. Finally, she abandoned her lesson. But even improvising failed of its wonted charm. Her fingers kept striking the wrong keys. Then a sudden, ear-splitting thunderclap hurled her on to a shrieking discord.

She jumped up from the piano; she was horribly afraid of thunderstorms—mother wouldn't mind if she stopped till the storm was over. She longed to go and sit close to mother, to feel the protection of her presence; but, despite the general softening of her mood, she had maintained a certain stiffness toward the family. So she crouched on a sofa in the darkest corner of the room, hiding her eyes, stopping her ears.

Then a sudden thought brought her bolt upright. Gypsy! Tess had said Gypsy was afraid of thunderstorms—awfully afraid. And Gypsy was all alone in that big, gloomy barn—Tess blocks away at the library.

She tried to hide among the cushions again, but visions of Gypsy, with her bright, inquisitive eyes, her funny little petunias, her endearing capriciousness, kept rising before her. She felt a stab of remorse; that she could have let even the delights of "reading" and "improvising" compensate for separation from such a darling pony. She had been selfish, self-centered. And now Gypsy was alone in that old barn, trembling and neighing.

Finally, unable to endure the picture longer, she crept out to the hall. She could hear mother and Aunt Nettie in the sitting room—she couldn't get an umbrella from the closet. So, without umbrella or hat, she stole out the front door. Above was a continuous network of flame, though someone were scratching immense matches all over the surface of heaven; but doggedly she ran on. The downpour caught her, but, on she sped, though rain and hail hammered her head, blinded her eyes and drove her drenched garments against her flesh.

She found Gypsy huddled, quivering and taut, in a corner of the stall. She put her arms around the satiny neck, and they mutely comforted each other. It was thus that Tess discovered them; she, too, had run to Gypsy, though it had taken longer, as she had farther to go. But she was not so wet as Missy, having borrowed an umbrella at the library.

"I didn't wait to get an umbrella," Missy couldn't forbear commenting, and slightly slurring the truth.

Tess seemed a bit annoyed. "Well, you didn't have to go out in the rain, anyway. Guess I can be depended on to look out for my own pony, can't I?"

But Missy's tactful rejoinder, that she'd only feared Tess mightn't be able to accomplish the longer distance, served to dissipate the shadow of jealousy. Before the summer storm had impetuously spent itself in the feed box, feeding the reassured Gypsy peppermint sticks—Tess had met Arthur Simpson on her way to the library—and talking earnestly.

The earnest talk was born of an illustration Tess had seen in a magazine at the library. It was a society story, and the illustration showed the heroine in riding costume.

"She looked awfully swaggy," related Tess. "Flicking her crop against her boot, and a derby hat and stock collar and riding breeches. I think breeches are a lot more swaggy than habits."

"Don't you think they're a little bit—indecate?" ventured Missy, remembering her mother's recent invective against tomboys.

"Of course not!" denied Tess, disdainfully. "Valerie Jones, in Macon City, wears 'em, and she's awfully swell. Her father's a banker. She's in the thick of things at the country club. It's declassé to ride saddles, anyway."

Missy was silent; even when she felt herself misunderstood by her family and maltreated, she had no bothersome conscience.

"There's no real class to riding horseback," Tess went on, "unless you're up to date. You got to be up to date. Of course, Cherryl's slow, but that's no reason we've got to be slow, is it?"

"No-o," agreed Missy, hesitatingly. But she was emboldened to mention her father's discarded pepper-and-salt trousers. At the first she didn't intend really to appropriate them, but Tess caught up the idea enthusiastically. She immediately began making concrete plans, and soon Missy caught her fervor. That picture of herself as a dashing, fearless horsewoman had come to life again.

When she got home, mother, looking worried, was waiting for her.

"Where on earth have you been? Look at that straggly hair! And that dress—fresh just this morning—limp as a dish rag!"

Missy tried to explain, but the anxiety between mother's eyes deepened to lines of crossness.

"For heaven's sake! To go rushing off like that without a raincoat or even an umbrella! And you pretend to be afraid of thunderstorms! Now, Miss, it isn't because you've ruined your dress or likely caught your death of cold, but to think you'd willfully disobey me! What on earth am I to do with you?"

She made Missy feel like an unregenerate slacker. And Missy liked her stinging, smarting sensations no better because she felt she didn't deserve them. That heavy sense of injustice somewhat deadened any prick of guilt when later she stealthily removed the pepper and salts from the upstairs store closet.

But Aunt Nettie's eagle eyes chanced to see her. She went to Mrs. Merriam.

"What do you suppose Missy wants of those old pepper-and-salt pants?"

"I don't know, Nettie. Why?"

"She's just sneaked 'em off to her room. When she saw me coming up the stairs she scampered as if Satan was after her. What do you suppose she wants of them?"

"I can't imagine," repeated Mrs. Merriam.

"Maybe she hardly knows herself—girls that age are like a boiling teakettle, you know; their imagination keeps bubbling up and spilling over, and then disappears into vapor. I sometimes think we bother Missy too much with questions—she doesn't know the answers herself."

Mrs. Merriam was probably feeling the compunctions mothers often feel after they have scolded. Aunt Nettie sniffed a little, but Missy wasn't questioned. And now the scene of our story may shift to a sunny morning a few days later, and to the comparative seclusion of the sanitarium barn. There has been, for an hour or more, a suppressed sound of giggles, and Gypsy, sensing excitement in the air, stands with pricked-up ears and bright, inquisitive eyes. Luckily, there has been no intruder—just the three of them, Gypsy and Missy and Tess.

"You're wonderful—stupidly wonderful! It's simply too swaggy for words!" It was Tess speaking.

Missy gazed down at herself. It was swaggy, she assured herself. It must be swaggy—Tess said so. Almost as swaggy, Tess asserted, as the riding outfit worn by Miss Valerie Jones, who was the swaggiest member of Macon City's swaggiest young set. Yet, despite her assurance of swagginess, she was conscious of a certain uneasiness. She knew she shouldn't feel embarrassed; she should feel only swaggy. But she couldn't help a sense of awkwardness, almost of distaste; her legs felt—and looked—so queer! So conspicuous! The upper halves of them were clothed in two separate envelopments of pepper and salt material, gathered very full and puffy over the hips, but drawn in tightly toward the knee in a particularly swaggy fashion. Below the knee the swaggy tight effect was sustained by a pair of long, buttoned "leggings."

Peeping Pansy Fairy Tales

BY MARIE, QUEEN OF RUMANIA

PANSY MEETS MRS. GRUMPS AGAIN.

PANSY threw herself down on the moss, and Tim and Cussy flopped down beside her. They had sniffed at every mushroom, and now they were tried and quite ready to let their dwarf mistress lean against their fluffy sides.

"It was interesting!" exclaimed Pansy with a sigh of deep content, "and how lovely the forest is in the early morning, when everything is still covered with dew. Now I have seen the night dew in the moonlight, and the early dews with the sun making them sparkle."

"Which do you like best?" asked Flames, who had come to sit beside her. He was mopping his forehead because he had been working very hard. His beard was really fire-red.

"Of course, the moon-dews are more mysterious," said Pansy, thoughtfully.

"So you like them best?" insisted Flames.

"No—no!" said Pansy, reflectively. "I don't think I would as waves care to walk about in the moonlight—it makes my heart beat too fast."

"Yes, yes, I understand," nodded Flames: "we call that having emotions, and one cannot live upon emotions, they would wear one's heart out too quickly."

"I suppose it's something like that," agreed Pansy: "everything in the moonlight is rather ghostly, not really made for little girls somehow—it's all too pale and too exciting and the shades are too dark, one does not know what is hiding in them."

"So really and truly our Pansy felt a bit frightened in the moonlight!" explained Flames.

"No, not exactly frightened!" protested Pansy.

"But queer-uncanny like, just a little bit shivery; that is what you mean?" insisted Flames.

"Yes, that's more like it," agreed Pansy: "somehow it's delicious, it's mysterious, and like soft poetry—but it's a bit shivery."

Now Pansy-Pansy crawled on all-fours up behind Pansy and whispered into her ear: "You are still so nice and small, before we leave you ought to ask to see where they search for their precious stones."

"Please, will you ask?" Pansy whispered back: "I don't want to seem greedy, they have been so awfully kind to me."

"Foolish little human girl," scoffed the Elf: "but I'll ask right enough," and aloud he said: "Father Wrinkles, as my little friend is so small just now, could you not take her down into your precious stone mines?" I am sure it would interest her very much."

Pansy threw herself down on the moss and Tim and Cussy flopped down beside her.

"We would love to show all we have to our dear little guest," said the old man graciously, "but our mines are very far from here, and today is not a day when we work there; although we are so very jolly, we are very business-like and busy, and only work at one thing at a time. If sweet Pansy will come back another day, she shall see our mines."

"All right," said Pansy-Pansy: "we'll come back another day, never fear. We are only a little disturbed about Pansy's size. It would be more convenient for her to be her natural size."

"That's a very serious question," agreed Father Wrinkles, "and I am afraid we are not wizards. We are simple, hard-working little men, who have never been able to change our size. If I remember rightly, it was Mrs. Grumps who was useful before; she might be called upon again."

"Yes," admitted Pansy: "but you think she would help me?"

"Her bark is worse than her bite," laughed Father Wrinkles. "I am a bit nervous of her," admitted Pansy.

"One of us can go with you," proposed Flames. "We are only too willing!" exclaimed many voices.

But as they spoke there was a whizzing sound through the air, and suddenly down in their midst, crushing one of the best mushrooms, and terrifying Tim, who yelped shrilly as if he had been badly hurt.

A great perturbation ensued: Tim,

in springing up, knocked over his small mistress, who had been using his soft sides as a cushion, and Pansy came into collision with Flames, who was seated beside her, who rolled over the little baby mushrooms, completely smashing their carotid nodules.

The other little planters, surprised by this scattered descent from out of the skies, started to the right and left like a volley of scared sparrows. "Oh!" said Pansy when she had picked herself up, and "Hum!" said the feathered being in a cross voice, for it was none other than Mrs. Grumps—the wisest of birds—the forest's most celebrated philosopher.

There she sat, the picture of dignity, a citadel of impregnable virtues, a monument of solid principles that neither smiles nor tears could corrupt.

"I am here," were his first words: "I heard my name mentioned, and not being able to ascertain if it was pronounced with sufficient respect, I dropped down amongst you, so that you might all profit by my superior wisdom."

Home Economics

By MRS. ELIZABETH KENT.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

THE cost of the food has risen steadily since 1919, and since the war has increased very rapidly that it threatens our very standards of living. It is difficult for anyone who has not given the economic situation some study to see beyond the local grocer and merchant, yet they may be the least to blame for the ascending scale of prices.

The forces that restrict the supply of various commodities at present are many. The rush of people from the country to the city, and the increasing scarcity and cost of farm labor has directly reduced production of both food and raw materials. Natural resources have been extravagantly exploited and are making diminishing returns for the labor expended upon them. Distribution has become complicated, the jobber, the broker, the commission merchant, and the retailer must make their profit before commodities reach the consumer. The cost of transportation has increased, and the demand for convenient delivery system has added to the cost of retailing.

So much for a limited supply. But there is also an increased demand on that same reduced supply. The standard of living has risen. Easy conditions of city life have destroyed habits of thrift and hard work in the home, and led to waste and extravagance. Goods out of season and not indigenous to the country are in demand at heavy cost of production and transportation, all foods share in bearing this increased burden of cost; it is never paid entirely by the luxuries themselves.

When can, if they will, help to bring down the cost of living by moderating their demands and aiding increased production.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Buster Bear Gets a Sharp Reminder.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

BUSTER BEAR had spent a very long time and went right on sleeping and dreaming. The Busy Bee flew away. You might have thought, had you been there, that she had gone to look for other flowers. Instead she had flown straight back to a certain hollow tree in the Green Forest, in which she and some hundreds of her sisters made their home, and where they had stored ever and ever so much golden honey. It was the first

Now it was early fall, and the berry season was over. Even the late blueberries were about gone, and Buster had to do a great deal of hunting to find enough for a meal. Easy living had made him lazy, and now he grumbled a little as he hunted for berries. You know, easy living is apt to make folks lazy, and when they are lazy they are apt to grumble if there is any work to be done.

So Buster grumbled as he hunted for berries in the Old Pasture. After a while he came to a sunny spot, where a few late flowers were in bloom. Buster had been roaming about the greater part of the night before, and this sunny spot was very tempting, very tempting indeed. Buster stopped grumbling. With a sigh of utter contentment he stretched out in that sunny place for a nap. In two minutes Buster was asleep, and in two minutes more he was dreaming.

Now, Buster had chosen to lie down right on a lot of those late flowers. He didn't give them a thought. He gave them no more thought than if they had been plain grass. His only thought was that they made him a comfortable bed, a very comfortable bed. So far as Buster was concerned that was all that was needed. He was very comfortable and he was very happy.

But there was someone else who thought very differently. It was Busy Bee. She knew all about those flowers. That particular place was one of her favorite places just because of those flowers. You see she had used them for them. From them she gathered the honey which she was working so hard to store away. It was hard to find flowers enough these fall days, and she was jealous of everyone.

So when she came back and found Buster Bear sleeping there right on those flowers she became so angry that for a moment or two she couldn't do a thing but buzz. She buzzed and buzzed, and the more she buzzed the angrier she became. She buzzed right in one of Buster's ears, but Buster just twitched that ear a

"Woe!" roared Buster, scrambling to his feet.

But Busy Bee had something on her mind. A few minutes later she was on her way back, and with her were many of her sisters. As soon as they saw great big Buster Bear peacefully sleeping and dreaming they became as angry as Busy Bee.

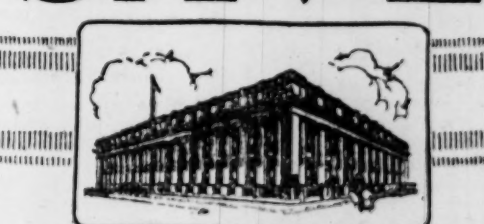

Gathered in a little black cloud just above Buster and the buzzing became an angry hum. Right in the very middle of a beautiful dream Buster felt a sharp pain in his right ear, another in his left ear, two or three in his nose and others all over him. "Woe!" roared Buster, scrambling to his feet and striking this way and striking that way with his big paws, and of course, hitting nothing at all. That didn't stop the sharp pains, and he began to slap himself here and there and everywhere. Then very wisely he took to his heels. And as he ran he began to grin. He had been reminded of something. Can you guess what?

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

NO RECOURSE.

The King of Montenegro and other Balkan monarchs have been conducting gambling houses to replenish their treasuries.

When rich Montenegrans try beating the wheel
With losses that swiftly increase,
They never express the suspicions they feel,
Nor foolishly call the police;
For though they can frequently see at a glance
That the game is a soundly swindle,
It is best to keep mum, for there's always a chance
That the King may be pinching the spindle.

When Serbian sports have had luck at the track,
They do not pull sorrowful faces,
And vow that they know they were gyped of their jack Because someone was fixing the races.
It is risky to say that the ring's full of thieves,
And rascals and burglars and crooks,
For many a heart-broken better believes
That the King has been making the books.

When noble Rumanians lose right along
When bucking the national game,
They do not cry loudly that something is wrong
Though they're sure that there is, just the same.
They never get lusty and summon the guards
Or voice any vigorous knocks,
For they fear it's the King who is dealing the cards
From the bottom and top of the box.

They pocket their losses like regular sports
And grin, like a good loser should;
For seeing the Sheriff and making reports
They know would not do any good.
And though being cheated is hard to endure
The old superstitions are strong,
And all through the Balkans the people are sure That the King cannot do any wrong.

BUSY DAYS.

REWARDS.

This is a curious country. It paid Jack Dempsey about a thousand dollars a minute to lick a harmless second-rate pug, and it paid Corporal a new President in office.

A Stickler for Exactness.

"Pardon me, sir, but there is no smoking allowed in the cars."
"I'm not smoking," came the reply.
"But you have a cigar in your mouth," answered Gallagher.
"I have shoes on my feet," replied the man, "but I'm not walking, am I?"
Gallagher will recover, but he'll never be the same.—Trolley Topics.

A Business School.

"I did."

"Oh, yes. When I was there the girls were having nose-powdering practice."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"This will make a whale of a story," said Jonah, as the fish swallowed him.—Yale Record.

NO GOOD.

The franking privilege won't be of much use in this campaign. By the time political speeches reach the voters the election will be over and a new President in office.

Then the Fight Began.

Two copy boys on a Philadelphia evening daily were having an acrimonious discussion one afternoon as they sat on their bench next to the city editor's desk.
"I guess they never named any towns after you," said one.
"Maybe not," said the other, "but there's a town up in New England named for you, all right."
"What town is that?" asked the first boy, falling into the trap.
"Marblehead," said the other.
At that point the first blow was struck.—Philadelphia Ledger.

More Satisfactory.

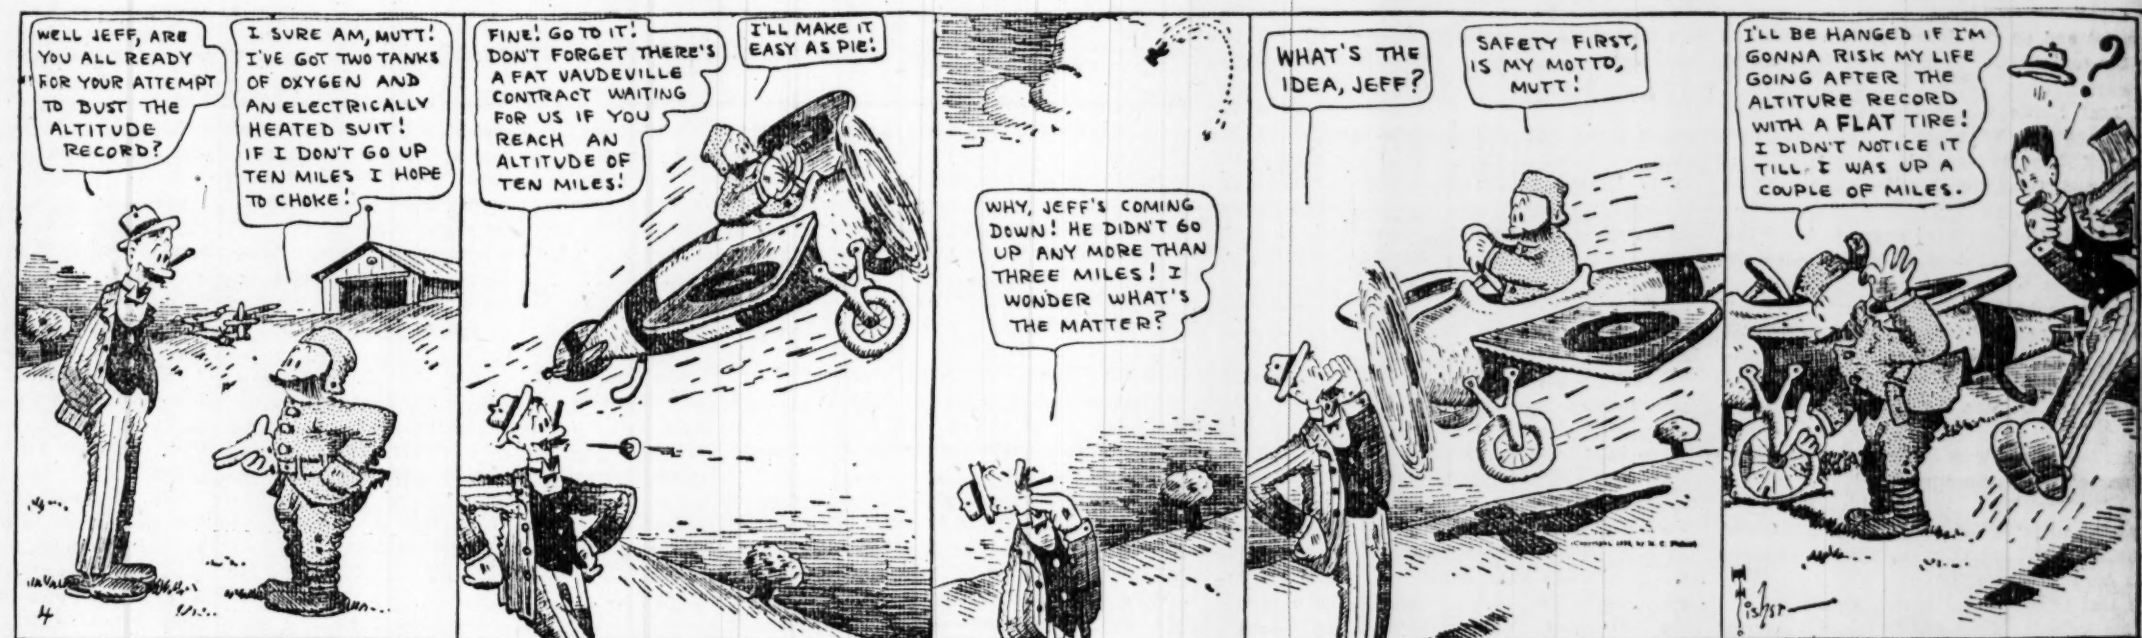

"You say you are having your revenge on the man who treated you so shabbily. What did you do to him?"
"Nothing. But his son has been given a French horn, his daughter is taking singing lessons and his baby has a bad attack of colic."—Baltimore American.

MERCHANT MARINE ACT MAY BE RECONSIDERED

President Believed to Be Holding Up Action Until Congress Reconvenes.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Belief is expressed in administration circles that President Wilson has decided to delay carrying out directions of Article 34 of the new merchant marine act relative to termination of certain commercial treaties until Congress reconvenes in December. White House officials refuse to discuss the matter.

Section 34 of the act directs the President within 90 days of the signing of the bill—which became law on June 4—to give notice to governments of all countries parties to commercial treaties with the United States that the provision of any such treaty which restricts this country in imposing discriminatory import duties and tonnage duties will be terminated.

Time Expired Sept. 4.

The time expired Sept. 4, and, though the State Department was prepared to forward the necessary communications to countries affected, the President is understood to have halted action.

Reconsideration of Section 34 by Congress is awaited by the President, officials say, on the ground that full significance of its provisions was not appreciated at the time of its passage. Notice of the intention to terminate such sections as restrain the imposition of discriminatory charges, some officials declared, would result in the abrogation of about 22 commercial treaties, including those with the most important nations with whom the United States is engaged in trade.

As an indication that the international consequences which might follow the President's serving the required notice were not clearly foreseen by Congress, administration officials assert that so far the President's delay has not brought forth any objection from framers of the bill.

Cannot Direct Executive.
Administration officials maintain that the President need not obey the demand of Congress on the ground that the Congress possesses no authority to direct the chief executive upon a course to pursue in relation to a treaty.

Precedent for refusing to terminate the commercial treaties in question is said by administration officials to be found in the refusal of President Hayes to comply with an act of Congress providing for changes in a treaty with China. Refusal by President Wilson to recognize the force of Section 34 of the act will in no way affect the remainder of the Jones Merchant Marine act, according to governmental experts on the shipping law.

COX TO END CALIFORNIA TOUR WITH FIVE SPEECHES TODAY

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 21.—Gov. Cox of Ohio, Democratic presidential candidate, today faced a busy day, whose program called for the conclusion of his Southern California campaign and his departure for Arizona this afternoon.

Five scheduled speeches remained on his program in Southern California. One was at Long Beach, three at Los Angeles and one at San Bernardino. This called for a morning trip to Long Beach and return here, where he was to address the City Advertising Club, a luncheon of club women and the Southern California Editorial Association. The speech at San Bernardino was to come late today.

As at his speeches in San Diego yesterday and in Los Angeles last night, those today were expected to be featured by the League of Nations and kindred subjects, as sentiment in favor of the league was said to be strong in Southern California.

Last night, at his first speech in Los Angeles, where he addressed one of the largest audiences of his Western trip. The Governor, for the first time, discussed the Hitchcock reservations to the League of Nations, declaring they met "all sincere objections."

He charged some "reactionary" newspapers were suppressing the news of his campaign, adding "they used to be preaching the League of Nations, but are not saying anything about it now; but they are saying Cox is wet."
